Erin's Conditions.

While preparations were being made in Chicago yesterday to extend high honors to William T. Cosgrave, president of the Irish Free State, on his arrival next Friday, Eamon de Valera, head of the opposition to Cosgrave in Ireland and leader of the old Irish republican movement that has never accepted the peace with England, came to Chicago for a quiet visit. Mr. de Valera was entertained at the Hotel Sherman by a group of friends headed by William P. Lyndon, secretary of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic. After dinner Mr. de Valera appeared in the Rose room of the hotel, where a hundred or more friends of the movement were gathered. Before speaking he made sure that no newspaper men were present. Economic conditions in Ireland and plans to raise $1,000,000 for a proposed new Republican party newspaper for Ireland were the chief topics discussed.

Can Be Self-Supporting.
"Ireland can become self-supporting. There is no reason why she should import goods valued at $300,000,000, as she did last year. At least half of this could be produced in Ireland," Mr. de Valera declared.

Prohibition would not be a success in Ireland and the possibility of its adoption is meager, Mr. de Valera said. Mr. de Valera is to leave for Dublin this morning.

Among the group that waited for the Irish hero, however, the chief subject of interest was the visit of President Cosgrave, as this is to be marked by all the pomp, acclamation, and publicity that the De Valera reception.

Some See British Plot.
In some quarters the Cosgrave visit to Chicago is taken as a deep Irish plot to destroy the America first campaign of Mayor Thompson.

The mayor, it is announced, is to entertain President Cosgrave at luncheon on the day of his arrival, and the city council is to meet in special session to adopt resolution of welcome.

Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, who was recently entertained so well in England that he told the Britishers Mayor Thompson didn't mean anything by his attacks on King George, left at the head of a committee of friends to welcome President Cosgrave in New York and escort him to Chicago.

Societies Oppose Welcome.
Opposition to all this Chicago welcome is voiced by the United Irish Societies, of which Thomas J. Ahearn is president. At a special meeting recently a committee was appointed to lay the following considerations before Mayor Thompson:

1. Mr. Cosgrave is a renegade Irish Republican, who betrayed the Irish Republic, turned against his former comrades and associates and did his utmost in the interest of England to force upon them the acceptance of the so-called treaty of 1921.

2. Following his betrayal, and having been rewarded thereby by a lucrative position, Mr. Cosgrave has ever since shown himself most ruthless, relentless and vindictive in pursuing his former comrades and associates of the Irish Republican forces. In this pursuit he has made himself responsible for the death of many hundreds of his countrymen who remained faithful to the cause of Irish freedom.

Ask Mayor to Act.
"We wish to enter our most emphatic and strenuous protest against any official recognition being accorded to this traitor and renegade, whose hands are red with the blood of so many of Ireland's best and bravest men. We rely with confidence upon your honor, that you will do whatever may be necessary with regard to the visit of Mr. Cosgrave to protect the peace of Chicago," the protest adds.

Mr. Faherty was accompanied to New York by Dr. J. J. Killen, Kevin Kelly, Dr. Alexander Pope, and Walter Kelly.

HAVANA, Jan. 16.—After opening the sixth Pan-American conference today with a message invoking a greater degree of amity and cooperation among the Republics of the Western Hemisphere, President Coolidge participated tonight in a colorful love feast with the delegates of the Latin American nations.

The occasion was that of the dinner for 200 persons given by President Machado of Cuba and Señora Machado, in honor of the President of the United States, and Mrs. Coolidge, and the delegates to the conference and their wives. It was held in the great banquet hall of the presidential palace, glittering with a golden and crystal splendor unrivaled in "the states."

There was a hearty clapping of hands across the Americas. Twenty-one times the hosts and guests arose and drank a toast in champagne to each of the twenty-one American countries.

Winds Up Two Days' Visit.
This was the final event of the two day visit of President Coolidge in Havana, on his good will mission to Latin America. The big event of the day was the opening of the conference with the addresses by Presidents Coolidge and Machado, in the forenoon.

Then began the love feasting. President and Mrs. Coolidge and their party were whisked into the country for a luncheon at President Machado's villa. A glimpse of a sugar mill in operation was given the distinguished guests on the way. Late in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge were escorted to a fronton, where they witnessed a performance of the ancient Basque game of jai alai, the national game of Cuba, which is now making its appearance in Chicago and the cities of the United States. The President appeared to get a big thrill out of the marvelous agility of the jai alai players whose flashing feet in hurrying and catching the ball in the arena he followed with breathless interest.

Coolidge Grin Pleases Cubans.
Everywhere the President appeared at the conference, in the streets, and at the jai alai game—he was tumultuously cheered and applauded by the vast throngs that gathered to get a glimpse of the American executive. The fair hair and complexion of the President attracted attention everywhere among the black haired, olive skinned Cubans. "Rubio," meaning red head, was the word on the tongue of the populace as Mr. Coolidge rode past, acknowledging the plaudits with a constant lifting of his top hat.

The President was hugely enjoying the experience, one could see, for the Coolidge grin was everywhere in evidence. He was everywhere in evidence, the Cuban found—and the more he grinned, the more they applauded.

The President and Mrs. Coolidge are sleeping beneath the palace roof to night, and early tomorrow morning they will be homeward bound aboard the United States cruiser Memphis, which will carry them to Key West, where their special train awaits them.

See Better Understanding.
Charles Evans Hughes and the other members of the American delegation to the conference will remain behind to carry on the undertaking of effecting a better understanding with Latin America, so auspiciously initiated by Mr. Coolidge.

The delegates tonight are nearly all expressive of appreciation of the important step taken by Mr. Coolidge in bringing the United States and the smaller republics of the American continent into closer and friendlier relations.

The Latin Americans seemed particularly impressed by the fact that for the first time in our history a President of the United States had dignified a Pan-American conference by journeying to another republic to deliver a message glorifying the common aims and aspirations of the democracies of the new world. The event is being hailed as a prophecy of a new era of friendlier contacts between the Anglo-Saxons of the north and the Latin Americans south of the Rio Grande.

The opening of the Pan-American conference was marked by the marriage of Margaret, Roger Wolf Kahn will be the sole unmarried child of the family. In 1928, Maude Emily Kahn, sister of Margaret, married Maj. J. C. Oakes Marrott of the Scots Guards. Four years later the $200,000,000 Kahn-Wheeler fortune was united.

COOLIDGE RAISES HIS GLASSES OF WINE TO
LIPS, BUT DRINKS NONE

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
HAVANA, Jan. 16.—Tantulus had nothing tonight on Calvin Coolidge, who did love his tippie in the days of old. At the state dinner tonight the beverages served included a cocktail, rhine wine, sherry, claret, burgundy, champagne, and cognac. The toasts were drunk in champagne.

At a late hour tonight after the seventeenth toast to the seventeenth of the twenty-one American republics it was vociferously reported by eye witnesses that President Coolidge had raised his glass to his lips for the seventeenth time, but not a drop of the enticing liquid had passed the presidential throat. Furthermore it is learned that when the cocktails were served at the luncheon given by President Machado at the country place to-day President Coolidge turned his back and became deeply interested in the view of the mountains.

At the dinner tonight in response to President Machado's toast to the United States, President Coolidge said he was "greatly touched by the cordial manner in which your excellency has received my brief but sincere references this morning to your glorious country" and thanked him for the courtesies shown himself and Mrs. Coolidge.

CUPID TO UNITE
TWO OF RICHEST
U. S. FAMILIES

New York, Jan. 16.—(Special.)—A betrothal linking the wealth of Otto Kahn to the millions of one of America's wealthiest Catholic families became known today in the announcement of the engagement of Margaret Dorothy Kahn, younger daughter of the banker, and John Barry Ryan Jr., grandson of Thomas Fortune Ryan.

Time and place of the ceremony were kept secret, but it is assumed that the ritual will be in the Catholic faith as was the marriage three years ago of Margaret's brother, Gilbert, and the former Anne Elizabeth Whelan, daughter of the president of the United Clear Stores corporation.

For years, the members of the Kahn family have been members of the congregation of St. Bartholomew's Episcopal church in Park avenue. At the time of the marriage of Gilbert Kahn, it was announced that he would retain his Protestant faith, but that any children of the union would be reared Catholics.

With the marriage of Margaret, Roger Wolf Kahn will be the sole unmarried child of the family. In 1928, Maude Emily Kahn, sister of Margaret, married Maj. J. C. Oakes Marrott of the Scots Guards. Four years later the $200,000,000 Kahn-Wheeler fortune was united.

Pal of Slain
Girl Gives Up;
Denies Killing

Marion Kirk, a slim young woman from Iowa—manicure, actress, chorus girl, organist and admitted shoplifter—strove for hours yesterday to convince the police and the state's attorney's office that finger prints found on the yards of tape that were wound around the face of Betty Chambers, slain at the Fontenelle hotel by strangling, were not hers.

But her explanations failed and where she was led away to a cell shortly before midnight, Assistant State's Attorney George S. Lavin announced that a charge of murder would be placed against her today.

Couple Surrender.
The girl and the man she claims is her husband, James Kirk, an admitted pickpocket, surrendered to the authorities yesterday. It was known that Marion and Betty had been often seen together. There was also a suspicion on the part of the police that Betty was jealous of the other girl because J. Gordon Chambers, who posed as the slain woman's husband, was paying the other too much attention.

And so the examination by the prosecutors and Deputy Police Commissioner William E. O'Connor began with the taking of the finger prints of Marion Kirk.

"They are the same," Deputy O'Connor informed her, "as those we found on the tape. They're the same as those on the goldfish bowl and other articles in that woman's flat."

Banged Her Finger.
Marion shook her head. It was true, she said, that she had been in the place. But they had quarreled, she said, several days before Betty was slain, and since the disagreement they had not been together.

"My finger prints might be there," she said calmly, "but not on any tape that the killer put on her. We weren't bitter enemies and I'm sorry she's dead. The only time I put my fingers on tape there was weeks ago, when I handed a finger for her."

She and Kirk offered the explanation that on the day Betty was killed they slept until 4 p. m.—that they had been smoking opium and it stupefied them.

Warns of Electric Chair.
Kirk is held only as a material witness. As she passed him after being quizzed he whispered to her: "Tell the truth, kid, and keep out of the electric chair."

The police theory is that Marion and a man went to the place together. To support the finger prints they recalled that a neighbor, Mrs. Marion

Black, heard Betty scream in her flat, presumably at the time she was being killed. "For God's sake, Marion, don't do that."

As to the man, they do not know who he is. Perhaps, they theorize, it was Chambers, a racketeer of small parts, whose police record is for petty crime. Or perhaps, they say, it was Joe Miller, "Eagle Hawk," the dark man, who has been sought ever since the strangled body was found under a heap of stolen cushions.

A late witness, brought in at midnight, gave a statement that pointed still more clearly to Miller. She is Mrs. Louise Hall, 740 Bittersweet place. The night before Betty was killed she went to the latter's apartment and gave her a facial massage.

There at the time, she said, was "Eagle Hawk."

Another Is Arrested.
Another development in the hunt for the slayer or slayers was the arrest of Al Bregar, 3517 West Roosevelt road. He was questioned at the Town Hall station by Deputy Police Commissioner James L. Mooney.

He admitted that he had lived in the Chambers apartment for some days, but it was, he added, long before the killing. There will be more questions for him to answer today.

Marion said that her real name is Doris Hemphill and that she once lived at Easterville, Ia.

Further investigation yesterday absolved the Chambers woman of complicity in a $100,000 jewelry robbery at Cleveland.

Charge Trade
Loss to Loop
Parking Ban

Led by Ald. John Coughlin (1st), enemies of the loop parking ban opened yesterday what is expected to be a long battle of oratory and statistics, ending either in the abolition or permanent establishment of the ordinance.

The veteran loop councilmen, asserting that "always was and still is against the ban," presented a resolution to the council, demanding an early meeting of the traffic committee to hear the protests of firms that charge it has hurt their business.

Ald. Leonard J. Grossman (5th) was the only member to come to his aid. Grossman said he has received 100 letters from businessmen in his ward protesting that they cannot enter the loop to conduct business. He added that "it is the council's stern duty to determine if this ordinance was passed in behalf of the people or of the cab companies and downtown garages."

Yesterday marked the end of the first week in which the no-parking ordinance has been in effect.

Merchants' Views Differ.
Ald. Coughlin in his resolution cited a list of twenty-five firms which declare that their business has fallen off. On the contrary, heads of many other firms, including some of the largest State street merchants deny their trade has been affected. A third group, comprising a majority of loop concerns apparently intends to wait the results of scientific analysis before exerting pressure either way.

DEACON ADMITS
SLAYING CHILD,
MAIMING BODYSpirited from Jail to State Prison.

Flint, Mich., Jan. 16.—(Special.)—Adolph Hotelling, 47 year old carpenter and church elder, who late today confessed he had murdered and mutilated 5 year old Dorothy Schneider, tonight was lodged in the state reformatory at Ionia.

Hotelling was rushed by automobile to Lansing when officers feared a lynching here, and from Lansing was taken to Ionia. Scarcely had he passed the Flint city limits when a mob of thousands was storming the jail, to be dispersed later by a company of national guardsmen.

Hotelling was arrested at his home in Owosso and as the officers drove with him to the Flint jail he made a complete confession. Later he made another statement at Lansing, which has not been made public.

Blames the Hickman Case.
The confession said Hotelling had been brooding over the Hickman case. It declared the "terrible murder of Marion Parker had kept me awake night after night."

"I was hanging around Flint looking for work," Hotelling told the officers. "Last Thursday I was driving along the Ionia highway when I saw a little girl I did not know. I stopped the car and asked her to come in. I said I would take her home."

"She didn't want to come, but I took her in the car. She pleaded with me to let her go home. She said she would tell her mother and father on me if I didn't let her go."

"I drove down the Stanley road and then down a mud road. She was crying. I had never been down that road before."

"I stopped the car and took her in my arms and lifted her over the fence. She was still crying. She kept telling me that she would have her parents after me."

"I got her down to the creek. She was still crying and pleading with me to let her go home. I don't know what came over me or what made me cut her up."

"The Hickman case preyed on my mind. It kept me awake night after night. I thought of the crime all of Saturday. I thought of giving myself up tomorrow."

Many Threats of Lynching.
Little effort was made to question Hotelling further in the jail here. Sheriff Frank A. Green and his deputies recalled a threat made last week by thousands of automobile can which had hastily been painted black to hide the tell tale blue car police in half a dozen states were seeking.

The finding of a bloodstained knife in the elder's pockets completed the chain of evidence.

"We did not need the confession," Deputy Sheriff Matt Talithorpe, who made the arrest, said.

Hotelling is married and the father of five children, two of them married daughters. He is a descendent in the Church of Christ at Orosco and after presiding at communion services at the church last Sunday morning—three days after the murder—was made an elder at the night services.

Although descriptions of Hotelling's desecrated car had been broadcast by state police, his neighbors failed to connect the sedan of this pious neighbor with that of the slayer, and it was not until this morning that a tangible clue was given them to work on.

Tailed of Larger Rewards.

The tip that led to the arrest came from Sheldon Robinson, a Mount Morris carpenter. He became suspicious of his fellow workman, noticed that his description fitted that given out by Bacon and drove to the sheriff's office here and told his story to Talithorpe.

"The man you want is working as a carpenter at Robinson's," said. He went on to give Hotelling's name and his reasons for being suspicious.

The man had discussed the case often, Robinson said, and had bragged that "when the rewards are large enough I will supply information that will lead to an arrest."

Deputy Sheriff Talithorpe, Henry Munger, and Tom Kelly at once rushed to Flushing, where they found Hotelling had quit his job on a new schoolhouse. They learned his home was in Orosco and speeded there.

Tells of the Arrest.

Talithorpe then described the arrest of the man in his home.

"Hotelling was in the house with his wife and two of their children," he said. "He said he was home all day Thursday when Dorothy was killed, but his wife wouldn't corroborate this statement. She said he had been looking for work."

"When we told her we thought her husband killed the girl she said: 'O, no, he's not the man. If I thought he was, I'd turn him in myself.'"

"Then she helped us pin it on him. She was a little, weak woman."

"We found his car. It was painted black, but the old blue paint was underneath it."

Find Repairs on Car.

"We went back and asked Mrs. Hotelling what color the car was. She said it was blue, just like it had at

J. P. MORGAN'S SISTER DENIES SHE'LL MARRY MONTE CARLO PRINCE

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

PARIS, Jan. 16.—(Le Petit Journal.)—The Prince of Monaco, who controls the famous Monte Carlo gambling resort, soon is to marry Anne Morgan, sister of J. Pierpont Morgan.

Efforts to substantiate this report proved unavailing here tonight.

Denied by Miss Morgan.

New York, Jan. 16.—(Special.)—At the home of Miss Morgan, 3 Sutton place, it was said tonight by Miss Morgan's private secretary that she had been authorized to deny the Paris report of Miss Morgan's engagement to the Prince of Monaco. She characterized it as "utterly without foundation," and "untrue."

The Prince of Monaco, traveling incognito as the Comte De Thorigny, and his son-in-law and daughter, the Comte and Comtesse De Marchais, arrived in New York a week ago. They were the guests of Bernard M. Baruch and left with him Thursday on a hunting trip to his estate at Hoboken, N. C.

ways been. Then we found it had been repainted Friday, the day after the murder.

"Hotelling had a fur cap on the day he killed the girl. He said he never wore a fur cap, but his wife brought it out and showed it to us. Then she got the clothes he had on Thursday."

"Hotelling still said he didn't do it, but we were satisfied and took him back to the jail."

Before leaving the house the deputies searched Hotelling and found the knife with two bloodstained blades and a handkerchief similar to one found near the child's body.

Women's Names in Notebook.

Later the deputies found a notebook in which was scribbled the names of several women, among them that of Mrs. Mabel Schneider, mother of the slain child. Hotelling failed to explain these names.

He was first brought to the office of Sheriff Frank A. Green and after an extra guard had been thrown around the jail he was lodged in a cell.

Here the man became hysterical, pacing up and down and shouting. He was overpowered by guards when he attempted to cut his throat with a nail.

At the Lansing jail tonight state police continued their grilling of Hotelling in an effort to get an admission that he was responsible for a similar crime in Orosco last year.

Dorothy was slain last Thursday aftnoon. The mother of the child, alarmed when she did not return from school, spread an alarm that soon had state police and a posse of several hundred citizens seeking her. When the mutilated body was found the man Hunt began.

The arrest of Hotelling followed the most intensive crime hunt in the history of the state. The state department at Lansing had set a force to work to check up on the ownership of Dodge sedans within a radius of many miles of the scene of the crime. Gov. Fred Green went to Flint with the heads of the state police to personally direct the hunt for the murderer, which led into a half dozen midwest states.

The officers had pursued most persistently the clue offered by Bacon, who felt sure, after the crime was discovered, that it could only have been committed by the man whom he had helped out of the mire.

Child's Funeral Held.

The confession of Hotelling came at almost the very hour that the parents and the school companions of little Dorothy were assembled at the grave of the child in Sunset Hills cemetery at Mount Morris to pay their last respects to the victim of the murderer's knife.

Hotelling came to Orosco from South Ste. Marie, Mich., nine years ago. Recently he had been out of work and according to his wife had driven his automobile here last Thursday afternoon to look for work.

W. C. T. U. HAILS 8TH ANNIVERSARY OF PROHIBITION

The eighth anniversary of the eighteenth amendment to the constitution yesterday was the occasion of an optimistic message concerning the future of prohibition, issued by Mrs. Ella A. Boone, president of the national W. C. T. U., from her headquarters at Evanston.

Referring to the day as "Victory day," Mrs. Boone exhorts the 10,000 chapters of the W. C. T. U. throughout the country to recognize prohibition as the best method ever used in making the nation dry.

GILLIOM INSISTS THAT KLAN BARE SECRET POLICIES

Asks Court to Mandate Leaders Who Know.

Indianapolis, Ind., Jan. 16.—(Special.)—As the second step in his suit to evict the Ku Klux Klan from Indiana, and to force it into receivership, Attorney General Arthur L. Gilliom today asked the Marion county Circuit court to compel the Klan to answer 119 questions that would bare its state and national secrets relative to finances, membership, distribution of money, political activities, and religious notions.

Gilliom asked that the original defendants in his suit, Hiram W. Evans, Imperial Wizard, and Joseph M. Huntington, Imperial representative of the Indiana Klan, be ordered to answer the questions "within a reasonable time."

Would Cancel Certificate.

In the suit filed a few days ago Gilliom asked that the certificate of admission of the Klan corporation to Indiana be canceled and that it and its officers be enjoined from activity in Indiana and that a receiver be appointed.

The Klan's powerful influence in Indiana politics, how it came about, who it supported in the last gubernatorial race, the ranking of the various national and state officers, and the pay they receive, the limits of their authority and for what purposes money has been expended after payment of salaries was among information requested by Gilliom today.

He asks the number of male members in the Indiana Klan and in the entire country; the total amount of "kickbacks" (initiation fees) paid to Klan officials by new members, and the connection of David C. Stephenson, former grand dragon, with the order in the state. Stephenson is now serving life sentence in the Indiana penitentiary for murder.

A Political Issue.

"When did Stephenson make the Klan a political issue in Indiana?" was one question asked.

Recalling the unsuccessful race of Gov. Al Smith at the last Democratic national convention, the document inquired whether the Klan proposes to take an equally active part at the next Democratic national convention and state conventions.

BRENNAN OPENS WAR ON SMALL'S SPRING PRIMARY

Wreck Governor's
Special Session Plans.

BY PARKE BROWN.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Springfield, Ill., Jan. 16.—(Special.)—Governor E. Brennan's war against small's program of primary elections for the special session of the general assembly is on.

While the armistice is really in effect until the Democratic chief meets the governor tomorrow morning, the governor's statements to newspaper men showed that he will not make any terms acceptable to Small.

May Have G. O. P. Aid.

Representing a decided feeling against small's in any form, but conceding a willingness to compromise on a September date, Mr. Brennan declared himself unqualifiedly against the continuation of the April primary proposed by the administration. That he will have aid from the Republican side that may be sufficient to elect Small in a corner is believed. It was reported that Homer K. Galpin, chairman of the Thompson-Crowe Cook county organization, is on the way here with a message that he and his associates have changed their minds, and now favor the fall primary.

Figures show that if Brennan's inquest among the legislators is topped by that of the Thompson-Crowe committee, the governor will not be able to pass his April primary bill, which requires 100 votes in the lower house. The only question will be whether the governor will submit to a vote that seems to be inevitable and ask the extra session, which reconvenes in coming, to pass a bill for a fall primary, or will go ahead with his bill as he has outlined it.

Concessions Not Enough.

Chairman Galpin is to call on Mr. Small as soon as Mr. Brennan leaves his office, and there may be an immediate decision, but it is considered more likely that the governor will take time to study the new situation confronting him. It is believed he is ready now to submit to what was believed would be Mr. Brennan's only demand—that delegates to the national conventions be eliminated from the primary and chosen in state conventions.

In fact, it is reported, he has a bill that sort ready for introduction, but Mr. Brennan's interviews manifestly that even this concession will not satisfy him.

April Spring Primary.

"I am opposed to all primary laws," said "The title of a primary act ought to be: 'An Act to Promote Machine Rule and Bossism.' The young man who wants to enter public life by taking Chicago as an example—well, a chance. If he were to become a candidate for a city office, how would he man 2,500 precincts against an organization that has patronage in every precinct? The primary has made a machine's game."

Against Spring Primary.
"I am opposed particularly to a spring primary. There might be a compromise on a fall primary, but I am against a spring primary because it makes a man make a campaign for approximately a year, so that on the day of election he has spent the entire salary of the office he seeks. Therefore, it makes for corruption in public life."

"I deny that I was a party to the war against the present primary law for the purpose of getting an Al Smith delegation. There isn't and hasn't been any doubt of Gov. Small's nomination for the presidency and there has been no necessity to take advantage of the situation. My position is that he will be nominated."

BENJAMIN FRANKLIN'S FIRST NEWSPAPER

THE [Nº 80]

New-England Courant.

From MONDAY February 4. to MONDAY February 11. 1723.

The late Publisher of this Paper, finding so many Inconveniences would arise by his carrying the Manuscript and public News to be supervised by the Secretary, as to his carrying it on unprofitable, has entirely dropped the Undertaking. The present Publisher having received the following Piece, delivers the Readers to accept of it as a Preface to what they may hereafter meet with in this Paper.

Nem ego mordaci diffinixi Carmine quinquages.
Nulla omnino Litera unquam Jovis est.

ONG has the Press ground in bringing forth an hateful, but numerous Brood of Party Pamphlets, malicious Scribbles, and Billingsgate Kibbly. The Rancour and bitterness it has unhappily infused into Mens mind, and to what a Degree it has fowred and leaven'd the Tempers of Perfectly former'd sweet fume of the most well known here, is too well known here, to need any further Proof or Representation of the Matter.

No generous and impartial Person then can blame the present Undertaking, which is designed purely for the Diversion and Merriment of the Reader. Pieces of Pleasantry and Mirth have a secret Charm in them to allay the Heat and Tumours of our Spirits, and to make a Man forget his selfish Refinements. They have a strange Power to tune the harsh Dissonances of the Soul, and reduce us to a serene and placid State of Mind.

The main Design of this Weekly Paper will be to entertain the Town with the most comical and diverting Incidents of Humane Life, which in so large a Place as Boston, will not fill of a universal Exemption: Nor shall we be wanting Particular interest attaches to this facsimile of the New England Courant, of which Benjamin Franklin became publisher at the age of 17, because this is the 222d anniversary of the birth of the American who "tore the lightning from the heavens and the scepter from the hands of the tyrant." The original of this number of the Courant, believed to be the first issued after Franklin took over its publication from his brother, James, is owned by Vincent Beckett of 8101 Muskegon avenue, in whose family it has been for generations.

on the first ballot at Houston."

Mr. Brennan declared that the convention system of nominating places the responsibility on the leaders who are exempt from answering to their parties under the primary method. He said that minority candidates frequently win in primaries while nomination in convention can be only by a clear majority.

Hints at Other Reasons.

Other reasons particularly pertinent at this time are said to have played a part on the Chicago leaders' decision. One of them is his thought that, while there is not time even for calling a special primary for that purpose if the primary is in April, his party will be able, by September, to force a special election for United States senator by compelling Frank L. Smith to resign or to land upon the Republican party the responsibility for Illinois' lack of due representation at Washington.

It is believed he also feels he will be able to get bigger men to accept places on his Cook county ticket in September if Gov. Smith is nominated in June.

There is no Man in Boston better qualified than old Penns for a Counterpart, or if you please, an Offspring, being a Man of such remarkable Opicks, as to look two ways at once.

CROWE, BIG BILL TUNE UP G. O. P. FOR PRIMARIES

Get Ready on Chance of
One in April.

BY JAMES DOHERTY.

State making was begun yesterday by the Thompson-Crowe Republican organization on the possibility there will be a primary April 24. While no candidates actually were selected, the executive committee of the county central committee was authorized to proceed with the picking and submit a slate in time for filing by Feb. 4.

The candidate judges were not a bit certain that the voters will have an opportunity of passing on their choice before September, but they were faced with the necessity of being ready if either the legislature or the Supreme court should provide for April nominations.

Figuring on the present primary law being sustained by the Supreme court, the ward committees were directed to prepare a list of the persons they will sponsor as precinct committee-men. Mayor William Hale Thompson is to go to Springfield tomorrow to confer with Gov. Small, he said. Homer K. Galpin, chairman of the Cook county Republican organization, and George Brennan, Democratic national committeemen, journeyed to Springfield yesterday, and all probably will consult together with the governor.

Want September Primary.

Representative Michael L. Igoe, Democratic leader in the house, departed with the assertion that the Democrats probably would insist on a September primary, and Igoe said no April primary law could be enacted without Democratic consent and votes. The battle lines, as leaders saw them, the night before the opening of the second gathering of the special session of the legislature, were as follows:

Brennan Democrats do not want delegates to the national convention selected in an April primary, and an injunction issued by Judge Harry Fisher as a preventative of the primary at the present time.

The Supreme court has two matters before it that may decide the question, one an appeal from Judge Fisher's decision and the other a plea by Attorney General Carlstrom for a ruling on the validity of the 1927 primary act. Gov. Small is willing to make concessions to the Democrats. The position of the followers of Senator Deenen is being kept secret.

Here's Tentative Slate.

The Crowe-Thompson leaders made public no names, but candidates under consideration were listed as follows: Robert E. Crowe for state's attorney, with no opposition from his own ranks and no one as yet named by the Deenen organization. Bernard F. Baras, former judge, for

CHAMBERLIN'S THIRD TRY TO SET DURATION FLYING RECORD FAILS

—The third attempt of Clarence D. Chamberlin and Roger Q. Williams to wrest the world's duration flying record from Germany failed today when they were forced down by ice forming on their monoplane after being in the air about three and a half hours. Chamberlin said he was willing to start a fourth attempt with Williams in two weeks and, if necessary, he would change the dates of his national lecture tour, which is to start this week at Philadelphia. The flyers dumped 300 gallons of gasoline before they landed at Mitchell field at 4:55 p. m.

member of the board of review, the place now held by Edward R. Lindsay. Dr. Daniel D. Coffey, Dr. W. M. Baehler, and former Sheriff Peter M. Hoffman for coroner, although Coroner Oscar Wolf may be retained by the regulars. William Garrahan, city purchasing agent, for recorder, to run against the Deenen stalwart, Joseph F. Haas. Charles E. Graydon, to run again for sheriff if it is held necessary to elect a sheriff this year.

Judge William V. Brothers is being talked of as the candidate for attorney general in the event the Cook county Republicans support a downstate candidate for governor.

Senator John Dalley of Peoria and Charles W. Hadley of Wheaton are other possibilities in the event a downstate is chosen.

Some Democratic Possibilities. Superior Judge William J. Lindsay and Municipal Judges Frank Padden and Joseph Burke are being mentioned as Democratic aspirants for the office of state's attorney, with Senator Thomas Courtney as another prospect if he doesn't run for attorney general. Former Alderman Christ A. Jensen is being urged to run for sheriff and Edward J. Kelly or former Commissioner Daniel Ryan may have the Democratic endorsement for board of review.

LEGION CENSURES
MAYOR FOR PLEA
IN SCHOOL CASE

Mayor Thompson's appeal to the American Legion to bring pressure to bear on the minority members of the board of education in order that a unanimous verdict of guilty may be brought against Superintendent William McAndrew was censured by the Cook County council of the American Legion at a meeting yesterday.

Characterizing the appeal as a bid "to assist him in effecting certain political changes in the school board," the council passed a resolution requesting that no action be taken on the mayor's communication until the matter is fully considered by the Legion as a whole.

"Such a request," says the resolution, "is manifestly improper, involving, as it does, an effort to draw the Legion into political controversy."

He vehemently denied charges that he and Medill seniors drank and danced during a party at 3426, 64th street and Corliss avenue early Sunday morning.

Prohibition agents raided the party at 1:30 Sunday morning and found a large quantity of liquor was in the hands of guests. The plan was to have surveillance by the police.

Yesterday, held in the office of the Board of Principals, was ordered to investigate charges against students who went to the party after the annual Saturday night, were drunk and danced.

S. DRY AGENT CLEARS MEDILL HIGH STUDENTS

Class President Wins the Praise of Officials.

Alma Schultz, 17, president of the senior class at the Medill high school, yesterday stood before Assistant Superintendent William J. Bogan and 24 principals of Chicago high schools and solemnly denied charges that 150 students drank and became disorderly during a party at the Club Medill, 64th street and Cottage Grove avenue, early Sunday morning.

Prohibition agents raided that cabaret at 1:30 Sunday morning and a quantity of liquor was taken from a number of guests. The place had been under surveillance by government men, the agents asserted. The hearing yesterday, held in the superintendent's office, was ordered by Mr. Bogan to investigate charges that the students, who went to the cabaret for dinner after the annual senior prom Saturday night, were drinking.

Indicates the Students.
Prohibition Agent Frank White vindicated the students when he told the principals that the government men had raided the club and searched the table of every student, but found no liquor or any evidences that the students had been drinking before they came to the cabaret.

"My observation is that if every one at the place had been as orderly as the students, there would have been no raid," White said. "We seized upon the tables of older patrons, and the students were all right. The schools are in no way at fault."

Wins Praise from Bogan.

Mr. Bogan was Schultz in his denial of the charges and his effort to clear the chaperones of any suspicion of improper conduct that Mr. Bogan at the time of the hearing commended the students completely and commended the class president for his sincerity.

A high school committee, consisting of Principals Hiram B. Loomis of Hyde Park, Frank W. Stahl of Bowen, and Mrs. Rose Kavana of Medill, was appointed by Mr. Bogan to make a general investigation of student social activities in an endeavor to avert such undesirable as that of the Medill students in the future.

"There is no ground whatever for the charges brought against these boys and girls," Mr. Loomis, chairman of the committee, said yesterday. "The questioning today showed that they conducted themselves as ladies and gentlemen throughout the entire affair."

When the principals or teachers chaperoned the students until 11:30 and 12 o'clock I feel that they have fulfilled their obligation," Mr. Loomis said. "Parents should be responsible for the conduct of their children after that time."

No Secrecy in Cabaret Party.
There was no secrecy about the cabaret party, Schultz told Mr. Bogan during the hearing. Reservations had been made two weeks in advance and the place for the party was known to the family and chaperoned by Samuel H. Oster, physical director.

"There couldn't have been any drinking," Schultz argued, "because as we went into the club the doorman told us the prohibition agents were there and searched us for bottles, but found nothing."

"It was the first time most of us were ever in a cabaret. Many of us were working our way through school. We looked forward to a lot of fun at the party. But we were well chaperoned and there certainly was no drinking."

Prohibition Administrator E. C. Yelverton yesterday announced that he would investigate the affair personally to ascertain what basis, if any, there was for the charges.

Hickman Rages at Alienists
Who Come to Examine Him

Los Angeles, Cal., Jan. 16.—(Special.)—William Edward Hickman, who was on trial presently with insanity in his defense for the accusation of murdering Marion Parker, today routed two state alienists from the confinement cell in the county jail.

Dr. Paul Powers and Frank Mikels had asked the killer to tell them his recollection of 12 year old Marion's death.

"Screaming 'I'll see you in hell,' Hickman raged to the physicians, snatched a sheet of papers out of Dr. Powers' hand, and ripped them into pieces. A guard pinioned his arms and other guards took him back to his cell."

Court Gives Child to Grandmother

Affection Revived

With the paternal affections of Wilmetta Kraft, 11 years old, restored by court order upon her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Sauer, 3711 South Robey street, Superior Judge Marcus Kavanagh yesterday gave Mrs. Sauer permanent custody of the girl with the provision that the father, Michael G. Kraft, 2814 South Wood street, may visit his daughter twice a week.

Kraft two months ago sued for the custody of his daughter, charging Mrs. Sauer with poisoning the girl's mind against him. The judge placed the burden of reviving the child's love for her father upon Mrs. Sauer and yesterday the court was satisfied his orders had been followed. Wilmetta's mother has been dead several years.

MRS. McLAUGHLIN AND KEGEL CLASH OVER STRAY DOGS

Society Woman Belittles
Menace of Rabies.

Friction over the killing of stray dogs, as proposed by Health Commissioner A. H. Kegel, to check rabies, flared up yesterday in a dispute between the commissioner and Mrs. Irene Castle McLaughlin, famous dancer and dog fancier.

"Mrs. McLaughlin, doubtless, is an authority on ballroom steps and feminine styles," surmised Dr. Kegel, "but what she knows about dog diseases is little, if any, more than nothing at all."

As a director of the Anti-Cruelty society, Mrs. McLaughlin has been a leader among a group of animal lovers who have decried the health department's drive to exterminate homeless dogs as inhumane, and even questioned the existence of such an ailment as hydrophobia. Dr. Kegel, she was quoted as saying, "must have a very limited knowledge of dogs."

Doesn't Believe in Rabies.
"Personally," she declared, "I do not believe in rabies, and my father, who was a physician and graduate of Cornell university, did not believe in it either."

"Whoever says there is no such thing as rabies might as well say there is no such thing as smallpox or typhoid fever," retorted the health commissioner. "If Mrs. McLaughlin or any one else questions my word, I suggest that they go to the hospital and observe a case. Eight persons died of rabies in Chicago in 1927 and I can assure you their deaths were indescribable."

Five health commissioners from suburban cities, meeting in Dr. Kegel's office yesterday, promised him their full support in the anti-rabies campaign. The group unanimously adopted a resolution in favor of strict enforcement of ordinances requiring license tags, muzzles and leashes on dogs, the immediate destruction of all stray dogs, and recommending inoculation of pets as a precaution.

Dog Virtually on Trial.
An airedale dog belonging to Policeman John Henry Bird was virtually on trial yesterday before a jury in Superior Judge Hugo Pann's courtroom.

The owner is being sued for $10,000 by his neighbor, Mrs. Alice Massey, 4531 Ellis avenue, who alleges she was bitten by his animal several months ago.

INDICT 16 YOUTHS BOAST OF 'JOBS' ON CHARGES OF 4 YOUNG GIRLS BEFORE POLICE; GANG IS NABBED

Sixteen young men, who live and work on farms in the vicinity of Huntley, Ill., were named in indictments that were returned late yesterday by a grand jury before Circuit Court Judge Edward Shurtleff at Woodstock. The indictments charge the youths, whose ages range from 16 to 21 years, with contributing to the delinquency of young girls.

State's Attorney V. S. Lumley of McHenry county last night issued subpoenas for the arrest of the sixteen. The indictments followed an investigation by the grand jury of conditions in roadhouses in McHenry county. Four young girls, one of whom is 13 years old and expects to become a mother in July, were called before the grand jury.

Those named in the indictments are Elmer White, Walter Thrume, Alfred Waller, Harry Scher, Harold Markes, Gilbert Markes, Donald Lincoln, Charles Schults, Arthur Hammond, Charles Gault, Walter Nelson, Harold Allison, Harvey Ritz, Gilbert Evans, Ganer Bargholtz, and Ralph Sickland.

While touring the Chicago Lawn district the other morning Sgt. John Klitty and members of his detective bureau squad stopped for lunch at a 47th street restaurant. At the next table sat four youths engaged in conversation.

"We've been pretty lucky in pulling off our jobs," Klitty heard one of the men say. "It's about time to make another haul. I think I know a good place."

Convinced that he had encountered a band of thieves, Klitty took the youths into custody. An investigation revealed a series of robberies, and loot valued at $1,000, consisting of radios, rugs, and silverware, was recovered by police. Last night the four were booked.

They are Walter Hebel, 19, and John Hoban, 20, both of 6432 Woodlawn avenue, each booked on eight robbery charges; George Huebner, 22, 3619 West 57th place, and Edward Voke, 26, 714 Englewood avenue. The last two will answer to charges of receiving stolen property.

"—the Land which the Lord thy God hath given thee"

WHEN these words were graven on tablets of stone...the land was all...it typified life and living. It was man's first possession. It was the beginning of all wealth. From this start the miracle of progress has been evolved.

That miracle is working today more powerfully than ever for man's benefit. Never before to any people has the soil yielded up its riches so generously as to us of America.

We have seen struggling towns grow into cities whose people numbered millions...have watched granite towers rise where our grandfathers pastured their cattle.

For forty-one years, we of the Harmon organization have seen this miracle of the land pour its wealth into the hands of America. And everywhere...whether in Chicago or New York, St. Louis or Los Angeles...we have wondered that this Miracle of the Land could pass unnoticed by so many men.

We have seen poor men start with little else but vision and determination, and acquire homes which their grandfathers would have regarded as palaces of millionaires. (Thus have opportunities grown and standards changed even in the life of a generation.)

We have seen men start with only a few hundreds in savings, and through land investment become independently wealthy.

We have seen men buy land for a dollar down, with the rest on contract...and then have watched them become prosperous and increase their holdings.

To some, land has meant the wealth of contentment...to others, wealth of opportunity...to others, wealth of gold.

It is a drama in which we of the Harmon organization have been proud to play a part. We have been able to assist thousands of salaried men to acquire land ownership with all its varied benefits.

Wm. E. Harmon, the founder of the Harmon interests, himself devised the "payment from savings" contract which in the last 41 years has enabled thousands of people in modest circumstances to become owners of profitable city properties.

Less than 10 years ago we were selling properties in Chatham Fields and Southfield to prospective home-owners for a cash payment of only Ten Dollars.

Some of these sites...located along Seventy-ninth Street and Cottage Grove Avenue have since sold for more than $100,000.

Nor is the story yet finished. All around lies land still waiting to be put to usefulness...waiting for the growing population to come and claim it...waiting for the expanding cities to turn it to the production of still more wealth.

Immigrants come to us with empty hands but with eyes alight to the opportunity...and they leave their children the landed estates of a millionaire. New Vanderbilts start out in life each year, and live to become the owners of thousands of acres and of wealth which even Croesus could have envied.

The tale has become so usual that no longer do we pause to wonder. Men go daily back and forth to their work, eat their food, take their recreation, seek their rest...and never once reflect on the miracles that are being enacted all around them.

Women scurry through their housework, hurry through the market, rush to the theatre...to thrill at dramas that cannot compare to the wonder of the thing in which we ourselves are actors this very day and hour.

Next week will be the 41st anniversary of the founding of the Harmon organization. The story of the land in America...and in Chicago, the industrial capital of America...will next week be only in its beginning. Our country is in its youth...its present stature only indicates the greatness that is to come.

Large opportunity lies in this future for all of us, if we will but see it in time. There is room for greater achievement here...for the accomplishing of tasks that till now have seemed impossible, and for the attainment of goals that today are only dreams.

COOLIDGE TALK WINS HEARTS OF PAN-AMERICANS

And Cal's Grin Grows as Latins Cheer.

conference was impressive and thrilling from beginning to end. The meeting was held in the beautiful and spacious National theater. It was the occasion of the coming together of undoubtedly the largest aggregation of top hats and long tailed coats in the western hemisphere. There were several acres of the National theater floor occupied by the formal head gear in the plaza before the theater by the time the delegates and the distinguished citizens of Havana had begun to gather in force with their credentials of admission in the theater.

The delegates of the twenty-one republics occupied nearly all of the main floor of the auditorium. Backed in four tiers above the level were the spectators who had been fortunate enough to obtain tickets. The solid background of the formal attire of the delegates was broken by the bright blues of hats and gowns of the smartly dressed ladies and señoritas.

At 11 o'clock President Machado and Coolidge entered, walking down the center aisle, while the great throng rose and applauded until the executives were seated on the stage against a background of distinguished guests. Mr. Coolidge sat at the right of President Machado. On the right of Mr. Coolidge was Secretary of State Kellogg. On the left of Secretary Kellogg was Dr. Ortiz, the Cuban secretary of state.

Coolidge Leads Cheers.

Now President Machado rises to speak. Instantly Mr. Coolidge is on his feet vigorously applauding, grinning, and turning from right to left, as to lead the whole assemblage in the tribute to the Cuban executive.

The audience is up too, and follows the Coolidge lead with a tumultuous demonstration. Señor Machado is clearly greatly touched by the spontaneous act of the American President. He turns and bows to Mr. Coolidge as Mr. Coolidge continues to applaud. Mr. Coolidge returns to read his address. President Machado comes right back with another bow. Mr. Coolidge is not to be outdone, and there is a great bobbing of presidential heads while the crowd goes wild with enthusiasm.

Machado Voices Welcome.

At last quiet is restored and President Machado begins to read his address of welcome. He is looking more than ever like a Spanish version of William Johnson.

"Intense is our joy and complete our faith in the future destinies of our hemisphere," says Señor Machado, "when, gazing over this hall, adding brilliancy to this transcendent occasion, we behold the illustrious presence of his excellency, Calvin Coolidge, chief executive of the greatest of all democracies, head of the great people whom Cuba had the honor of seeing at her side in her bloody struggle for independence."

There was a lot more in this vein of tribute to the United States and to Mr. Coolidge, as the Cuban executive launched into a plea for harmony among the American republics.

Crowds Point to Mrs. Coolidge. As soon as President Machado concludes President Coolidge is on his feet again leading in the applause. Mrs. Coolidge takes her place beside her husband in the front row of the first balcony is standing, too, and vigorously applauding and is beaming as usual in that infectious way she has. All over the theater the people are pointing out the wife of the American President, who is being identified to the Latin folk by the bright red hat she is wearing. With the crowd rise and applaud following the lead of the Coolidges.

Now comes the turn of President Coolidge to speak; he rises and he adjusts his hair, rums his glasses and produces his manuscript, taking his place at the radio microphone on the lectern.

Machado Leads Applause. No wait behind hand President Machado. He is up and leading the applause. The people rise and indulge in the greatest demonstration of the day.

Mr. Coolidge is pleasantly thrilled. Up and up go the corners of his mouth into that ingratiating Coolidge grin until his whole countenance radiates an engaging friendliness. He bows his appreciation again and again, first to President Machado and then right and left to the crowd.

When the demonstration was at an end Mr. Coolidge began reading his address in his characteristic unemotional tone, but with a greater freedom of gesture than heretofore noted in his public appearances. "When he quoted Edward Everett Hale's poetic lines he unleashed his right arm in a grand sweep that startled those accustomed to his usual sedate delivery. Evidently Latin America's demonstration was catching.

The President was uninterrupted until he came to the passage of his speech in which he paid a tribute to the Cuban people. "The recognized soundness of their public credit that has commanded universal respect and admiration." That brought President Machado to his feet, and everybody else, too, with a great outburst of applause.

"Better Fitted to Govern Selves." There was more applause when the President said that the "people are better fitted to govern themselves than any one else is to govern them" and that it is better for the people to make their own mistakes than to have some one else make their mistakes for them."

This seemed to the Latin Americans a plain disclaimer by the American President of any intention by the United States to annex any of the Latin republics.

In the next paragraph there was an utterance by Mr. Coolidge which went unobserved in this presence but doubtless will rouse the resentment of our pacifists at home.

"We have all nourished a commendable sentiment of moderate preparation for national defense," said the President, "believing that for a nation to be unreasonably neglectful of the military art, even if it did not in-

AMERICAN REPUBLICS BETTER FITTED TO GOVERN SELVES—COOLIDGE

HAVANA, Cuba, Jan. 16.—(AP)—President Coolidge opened his address with kindly words for "the queen of the islands of the West Indies," to which Columbus brought "the seed of many republics, the promise of greater human freedom than ever crossed the seas on any other voyage. With him sailed immortal declarations of independence and great charters of self-government."

"As we look back over the accomplishments of the last four centuries, we can see that we are warranted in ascribing that the western hemisphere has not failed in the service that it seemed destined to render to humanity," Mr. Coolidge said. "Progress does not go forward in a straight line. It is a succession of waves. We cannot always ride on their crest, but among our republics the main tide of human advancement has been steadily rising. The people have taken charge of their own affairs."

"In spite of some temporary discouragements, they have on the whole been successful. The fertility of a virgin soil, a wealth of mineral deposits, an abundance of water power, a multitude of navigable rivers, all at the command of a resourceful people, have produced a material prosperity greater in amount and more widely distributed than ever before in the lot of the human race. The arts and sciences have flourished, the advantages of education are widespread, devotion to religion is marked by its sincerity. The spirit of liberty is universal."

"An attitude of peace and good will prevails among our nations. A determination to adjust differences among ourselves, not by resort to force, but by the application of the principles of justice and equity, is one of our strongest characteristics. The sovereignty of small nations is respected. It is for the purpose of giving stronger guarantees to these principles, of increasing the amount and extending the breadth of these blessings, that this conference has been assembled."

Points to Progress of Cuba. Mr. Coolidge pointed to Cuba, which won its freedom only 20 years ago, as a complete demonstration of the progress which the Americas are making.

"It is a heavy responsibility which rests upon the people and the governments represented at this conference," Mr. Coolidge said. "Unto them has been given a new land, free from the traditional jealousies and hatreds of the old world, where the people must come into the fullest state of development."

Political Freedom's Advance. "It is among the republics of this hemisphere that the principle of human rights has had its broadest application; where political freedom and equality and economic opportunity have made their greatest advance. Our most sacred trust has been, and is, the establishment and expansion of the spirit of democracy. No doubt we shall maintain the peace and experience some disappointing reactions. But we have put our confidence in the ultimate wisdom of the people. We believe we can rely on their integrity, their sense of duty, and their character. We are thoroughly committed to the principle that they are better fitted to govern themselves."

U. S. Offers Economic Aid. The President praised the Latin American republics for their progress and stressed throughout his address the greater gains yet to be made from a closer relationship among each other and with the United States. He came to a subject near to his heart when he said that the United States is ready to send engineering advisers to Latin America to assist in the extension of good roads and told of the plans pending in the American congress for the establishment of air mail routes to Central and South America and of the expected development of commercial aviation incident thereto. Mr. Coolidge is a firm believer that the development of such communications will go far beyond any other single agency toward stabilizing governments in the Caribbean region and promoting their material welfare.

Mass Work on Canal Duty. A notable paragraph of the Coolidge address was that in which the President stressed the new world's independence of the old. The Pan-American conference, he pointed out, involves no antagonism to the old world or to the league of nations, of which some of the Latin-American countries are members, but he reminded the Latins that the American nations are "peculiarly responsible" for the maintenance of "the ideals of our western world" and of the necessity of "working out their own destiny in their own way."

There was a veiled warning against ill considered action by this conference which was interpreted as referring to a number of proposals which have originated in quarters desiring to put a crimp in American policies in the Caribbean. One of these proposals is the adoption of a rule of state shall intervene in the affairs of another, as it has been necessary for the United States to do in order to protect its rights and interests in the Caribbean region.

The President also made a significant appeal to look to the law, which might be interpreted to mean that the United States should be judged in its dealings with Latin America by the standards of the law, in which it has interfered in the affairs of neighbor republics for their own good and with a disinterestedness which again and again has been demonstrated beyond cavil.

Gets More Applause. At the close of Mr. Coolidge's address the audience, led by President Machado, again rose and indulged in prolonged applause. The Cubans had been enabled to follow Mr. Coolidge in Spanish translations of his speech, which were distributed in advance of the meeting, and the Americans were similarly enabled to follow the remarks of President Machado.

It was noon when the meeting came to a close, with the reading by President Machado of a greeting from the president of the Dominican republic. Mr. Coolidge passed out of the theater by the side of President Machado amid another demonstration, and presently the plaza was black once more with silk hats and long tailed coats, the expanse of which panoplies mottled their streaming brows in the tropical heat.

than any one else is to govern them. We do not claim immediate perfection. But we do expect continual progress. Our history reveals that in such expectation we have not been disappointed. It is better for the people to make their own mistakes than to have some one else make their mistakes for them."

DEVOTED TO PEACE

"Next to our attachment to the principle of self-government has been our attachment to the policy of peace. When the republics of the western hemisphere gained their independence, they were compelled to fight for it. They have always been a brave, resolute, and determined people, willing to make any sacrifice to defend what they believed to be their rights. But when once their rights have been secured, they have been almost equally solicitous to respect the rights of others. Their chief efforts have been devoted to the arts of peace."

"They have never come under the delusion of military grandeur. Nowhere among these republics have great military establishments ever been maintained for the purpose of overawing or subjugating other nations. We have all nourished a commendable sentiment of moderate preparation for national defense, believing that for a nation to be unreasonably neglectful of the military art, even if it did not invite and cause such aggression as to result either in war or in subject humiliation, would be a disasterous disintegration of the very moral fiber of the nation. But it is one thing to be prepared to defend our rights as a last extremity and quite another to rely on force when reason ought to prevail."

No Dynastic Wars. "The form of our governments guarantees us against the old world dynastic wars. It is scarcely too much to say that the conflicts which have been waged by our republics for 150 years have been almost entirely for the purpose of securing independence and extending the domain of human freedom. When these have been accomplished, we have not failed to heed the admonition to beat our swords into plowshares."

"We have kept the peace so largely among our republics because democracies are peace loving. They are founded on the desire to promote the general welfare of the people, which is seldom accomplished by warfare. In addition to this we have adopted a spirit of accommodation, good will, confidence and mutual helpfulness. We have been slow to anger and plentiful in mercy. When this attitude prevails it is not difficult to find practical means of adjusting differences. The statesmanship of the southern American republics has shown a peculiar skill and aptitude in this field. It began with mutual consultation."

First Congress 100 Years Ago. "The first Pan-American congress assembled at Panama City about 100 years ago. The purpose of that gathering has never been forgotten and it may be said to have marked the beginning of a permanent institution. The republics south of the Rio Grande have produced a most impressive record of a resort of mediation, arbitration, and other peaceful methods of the adjustment and adjudication of their international differences. A study of their treaties will disclose some of the finest examples of mutual covenants for the limitation of armaments and the avoidance of hostile conflict."

In the discovery of the true principles of international relations, and in the practical ability of putting them into effect, they have demonstrated a moral power and strength of character for which the whole world should be profoundly grateful."

All Nations on Equal Footing. After declaring the whole atmosphere of the Pan-American conference is "animated with the spirit of democracy and good will," President Coolidge continued:

"All nations here represented stand on an exact footing of equality. The smallest and the weakest speaks here with the same authority as the largest and the most powerful. You come together under the present conditions and the future expectation, of profound peace. You are continuing to strike a new note in international gatherings by maintaining a forum in which not the selfish interests of a few, but the general welfare of all, will be considered."

"If you are to approximate your past successes it will be because you do not hesitate to meet facts squarely. We must consider not only our strength but our weaknesses. We must give thought not only to our excellence but to our defects. The attitude of the open mind must prevail. Most of all, you must be guided by patience, tolerance, charity, judging your sister nations not only by their accomplishments but also by their aspirations."

"A Divine Providence has made us a neighborhood of republics. It is impossible to suppose that it was for the purpose of making us hostile to each other, but from time to time to reveal to us the methods by which we might secure the advantages and blessings of enduring friendships."

Must Look After Selves. "The existence of this conference, held for the consideration of measures of purely American concern, involves no antagonism toward any other section of the world or any other organization. It means that the independent nations of the western hemisphere, animated by the same ideals, enjoying the common blessings of freedom and peace, realize that there are many matters of mutual interest and importance which require the medium of such friendly contact and negotiation as is necessary for cooperative action."

We realize that one of the most important services which we can render to humanity, the one for which we are peculiarly responsible, is to maintain the ideals of our western world. That is our obligation. It is to be met we must meet it ourselves. We must join together in assuring conditions under which our republics will have the freedom and the responsibility of working out their own destiny in their own way."

Mr. Coolidge told of the record of American conferences in "establishing new currents of mutual understanding." He also spoke of the special conferences which have dealt with special questions and of the increasing interchange of university professors and migration of students.

KEEP OWN CULTURE

"It is not desirable that we should attempt to be all alike," the President continued. "Progress is not secured through uniformity and similarity but rather through multiplicity and diversity. We should all be intent on maintaining our own institutions and customs, preserving the purity of our own language and literature, fostering the ideals of our own culture and society."

In a territory reaching from the north temperate zone through the tropics to the south pole, there is room enough for every worthy activity which is profitable and every ideal which is good. Our geographical location, as well as our social and political conditions, has endowed us with a special unity and independence. Instead of considering our variations as an obstacle, we ought to realize that they are a contribution to the harmonious political and economic relations."

"In this great work of furthering inter-American understanding, a large responsibility rests upon the press of all countries. In our present stage of civilization, knowledge of foreign people is almost wholly supplied from that source. By misinterpreting facts, or by carelessness in presenting them in their true light, much damage can be done. While great progress has been made toward the publication of fuller information and unbiased views, a better exchange of news services would do much to hasten this process. We must look with the greatest interest in the development of shipping between North and South America and the construction of railroads and highways to serve as feeders. He disclosed that he is asking the United States congress for authority to send American engineering advisers to whatever Central and South American nations request their services."

He predicted that air mail routes will be established soon and told the conference the American congress was considering supporting such routes and that private citizens of the United States were considering their establishment.

"In the domain of commercial relations," the President added, "the last few years have witnessed an extraordinary strengthening of the economic ties binding together our republics. In both agricultural and industrial production the countries of America are complementing one another to an unusual degree, resulting in an increasing exchange of commodities."

ALL SHOW GOOD WILL

After praising the Pan-American union for the important part it has played in bringing about inter-American cooperation, Mr. Coolidge turned to political relations. He said that the results have been no less gratifying and even more significant."

Mr. Coolidge said, "It is almost impossible to place too high a value on the record achieved by the republics of America in the settlement of the differences that have arisen among them. Because of ill defined boundaries of the Spanish colonial empire, the independent states of America carved out of it fell heir to a large number of territorial disputes, which, in the hands of the people of the world, are exceedingly delicate and difficult nature."

"It is a tribute to the spirit of good will and mutual accommodation which has dominated the relations among the nations of the western world that most of these disputes have been settled by the orderly process of negotiation, mediation, and arbitration. The adjustment of international differences on the American continent has been advanced to a stage at which but few questions remain unresolved. This extraordinary record of achievement places beyond question the ability of the present generation to advance the great work that has been so auspiciously begun."

An Example to World. "It is a high example that we have set for the world in resolving international differences without resort to force. If these conferences mean anything, they mean the bringing of all our people more definitely and more completely under the reign of law. After all, it is in that direction that the greatest advance must be made for human progress. We can make no advance in the realm of economics, we can do nothing for education, we can accomplish but little even in the sphere of religion, until human affairs are brought within the orderly rule of law. The surest refuge of the weak and the oppressed is in the law. It is preeminently the shield of small nations."

"This is necessarily a long, laborious process, which must broaden out from precedent to precedent, from the general acceptance of principle to principle. New activities require new laws. The rules for the governing of aviation are only beginning to be considered. We shall make more progress in the end if we proceed with deliberation."

"No doubt you will find in your discussions many principles that you are ready to announce as sound and settled rules of action. But there are certain to be other questions concerning which it is not possible at the present time to lay down a specific rule of law. This need not discourage any one. It is rather the most conclusive evidence that the results which have been secured are not of a temporary but of a permanent nature, but a mature statement of sound and conclusive principles."

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 16.—President Coolidge's speech at Havana has created a universal expression of opinion that the United States and Mexico will find a way to march together in the future. All the newspapers reflect the hope that the conference will continue amicable for the future good of all America.

"President Coolidge's address indicates that the United States will pay more attention to the Latin-American countries and will endeavor to create an all American union," a member of the government party said. "The American nations are willing to take the natural lead of the United States, which is the only American nation capable of leadership."

"We are with Mr. Coolidge in his plans for improved international communication. The funds for this must come largely from the United States. This will assure the trade predominance of the United States in Latin America and tend to stabilize all the Latin American nations. We are with President Coolidge heart and soul on his get-together proposals."

London Papers Critical.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
LONDON, Jan. 17.—[1 a. m.]—A majority of the London newspapers are somewhat critical of President Coolidge's Havana speech. Most of them praise the speech as an excellent performance, typical of the American President, but collectively they regret the absence of any reference to Nicaragua or Mexico.

The Daily News, a liberal paper, says: "He neglected to mention that the United States government at this very moment is considering an expansion of its navy greater than any since the spectacular German effort preceding the war. And only a few hours before he was pointing out that one of the greatest characteristics of the American people is their 'respect for the sovereignty of small nations,' air bombers dispatched from his own country were dealing out death and terror among the so-called Nicaraguan rebels."

"It is plain that the United States government realizes at last the extent to which its aggressive policy has alienated the sympathy of the whole of Latin America, and that it is anxious to make amends and prove its benevolent intentions."

The Daily Telegraph, conservative, describes the speech as "one of those utterances of general congratulation and confidence in which President Coolidge excels, but he did not make any allusion to the specific questions in the minds of most of his hearers."

15,000,000 AMERICANS HEAR COOLIDGE SPEECH VIA 41 RADIO STATIONS

New York, Jan. 16.—(AP)—President Coolidge's message of good will before the Pan-American congress was heard by a radio audience of more than 15,000,000 persons, the National Broadcasting company estimated. The message was broadcast from New York by telephone wire and distributed over a chain of forty-two broadcasting stations. Owing to a lay in establishing the connection with New York, the radio audience did not hear the President's opening address from his own lips. Graham McNamee, announcer, read from the President's address until the connection was established.

address with the Nicaraguan affair, the late Mexican controversy. "The discourse of President Coolidge would sound better at a diplomatic reception than at a diplomatic reception. French political thought, state searches vainly in it for the least indication of a frank statement of the United States' political policy in Latin America. God knows there are important questions to be decided by congress. But the President skips all."

LONG SOUGHT AS CON MAN; CAUGHT HERE IN COURT

Lawrence J. Barrett, high power promoter, who has been sought in Chicago since September, 1926, when he was alleged to have victimized prominent Chicagoans through a dance game, was recognized yesterday in the South Clark street court when he was arrested Saturday. Barrett was charged with passing a check for $65 in Akron, O. Barrett was arrested Saturday at the Gladstone hotel, where he was lodged as E. E. Stone. Scott, Ray Mullany of the detective bureau, who was standing in the courtroom when the man was arraigned and identified him as Barrett. The sergeant signed a complaint of bond forfeiture against Barrett and declared that he expected numerous complaints of persons who Barrett had defrauded to identify him in the next few days.

OUR TRADE RELATIONS WITH LATIN AMERICA

Though questions of statecraft and diplomacy are to occupy much of the time of the Pan-American congress at Havana, that other and most important department of our relations with Latin America—the economic—will not be forgotten. In the opinion of thousands of American business men it is the all important topic of discussion. The bond of trade, they will tell you, is stronger even than the bond of treaty. Marines may come and go in Central America, South American editorialists can pen diatribes about the imperialistic designs of the United States, but so long as our trade with Latin America continues to flourish and grow as it has in the years since the war opinions will not control the situation.

The view is a limited one, but much in history supports it. Harper Leach is a very logical advocate belonging to this school. It was not long ago that he wrote an article based on a recent report on Latin American trade issued by the National Foreign Trade council of New York. That report is an illuminating document for those who have been persuaded to think that the recurrent propaganda against the United States has been reflected by a falling away of our commerce with Latin America. Whether or not it proves the contention that the economic bond is alone the effective bond, it at least emphasizes the importance of our economic relations to the south. There is nothing dry about statistics so telling as these:

Instead of slipping, our trade with Latin America has grown steadily since the war. We are selling the twenty republics south of us $100,000,000 worth of goods a year more than England, Germany, and France combined. Our exports to Latin America represent one-fifth of our total export trade. We are selling Latin America nearly a billion dollars in commodities a year, or three times what we sold Latin America before the war. We are supplying some thirty per cent of South America's total purchases, or twice the percentage before the war; for all Latin America, our share of its import trade has risen from a quarter to more than a third. England, France, and Germany, on the other hand, have seen their share of Latin American imports dwindle from a half before the war to slightly less than a third, the figure for 1925.

This trade is founded solidly on our investments in Latin America—a total of nearly five billion dollars about equally divided between Cuba and the Caribbean, Mexico and Central America, and South America. Though not yet equal to England's invested capital, ours is still growing at the rate of some $200,000,000 a year.

Such a trade record does not look like a boycott against the United States. It stands instead as a fundamental basis for continued friendly relations. It does not mean, however, that political and diplomatic relations can be disregarded. Political, diplomatic, and economic efforts to strengthen our relations with Latin America should be taken in parallel.

Politically, as we see it, the United States should further good will by recognizing the common interest of all nations of the two Americas in the peace and integrity of the western hemisphere. Diplomatically, the settlement of the controversy over the Mexican land laws stands as an example of what can be done.

Economically, progress may be made in many directions. One reason for our increased Latin American trade is the enterprise of our shipping interests. By geographic position the United States should be the chief source of and the chief market for Latin American trade. One of the very best means to further that trade still more is to build up our merchant marine. With ships transporting goods in a shorter time and at a lower cost than they can be transported between Europe and Latin America, our commercial position to the south will become unassailable. And in this connection the need for a great midwestern waterway should again be stressed. The Midwest has as much interest in Latin American trade as the seaboard. It wants to be able to send goods from Chicago to Rio de Janeiro, Buenos Aires, and Santiago de Chile by water all the way.

Another thing is the establishment of air routes between the United States and the southern republics. Foreign firms have already made a start. A German firm is demanding airport facilities in and near the Canal Zone. So far, naturally, we have refused. But to refuse and not to establish so necessary a means of transportation ourselves is to play dog in the manger. Agents for the German firm are in Havana, ready to begin lobbying when the congress meets and stir up sentiment against the United States. It is our own fault. It is the natural thing for the German agents to do. The only answer we can make is to announce that we will assume the responsibility. Col. Lindbergh, in Panama, urged the United States to establish air lines. He wants direct service between the United States and Central and South America. He says it is practical. One line, as he foresees it, would run from Chicago via the route already established as far as Dallas.

Another thing is the construction of a motor road connecting the two continents. That, too, will come and the United States should support its creation.

With the United States taking the lead to strengthen the present bonds of friendship in the western hemisphere, there is good reason to hope that the Havana conference will mark the beginning of a new era in the relations between the Americas. If, as some say, the economic relation is the all important one, then our relationship with Latin America is safe, certainly while our trade continues to grow as it has in the past. Wise statecraft and political right thinking will make sure that controversy does not intervene to mar this growth.

THE BAR TAKES THE INITIATIVE

The Chicago Bar association has embarked upon a new policy this year in its efforts to place able and honest men on the bench. Formerly the politicians put forward the candidates from among whom the bar association perforce made its recommendations; now the members of the bar association are preparing a list of recommended candidates for the politicians to endorse. If they will, the association has taken the initiative, we suspect, to avoid the necessity of endorsing incompetents on the ground that they were preferable to others even less competent.

As a preliminary measure the association has examined the list of sitting judges in the Superior and Municipal courts whose terms expire this year. Of six judges of the Superior court, only Judge Steffen was approved by a majority of the total membership of the association, and only Judge Howard Hayes among the twelve Municipal court judges was similarly endorsed. These two are automatically considered candidates of the association for reelection. Petitions of other candidates are now being circulated among the members of the association, with Jan. 19 set tentatively as the date when these petitions must be turned in. From these candidates a Bar association ticket will then be selected by vote of members of the association.

The new scheme does not guarantee that able men will be placed in the field, but it goes a long way in that direction. Possibly the politicians will refuse to throw their support to the men put forward by the association, and certainly it is unlikely that the association's ticket can win in the face of the direct opposition of the political leaders. Still, we believe the political leaders of the city and county will think twice before disregarding the names proffered by the legal profession. It is one thing to have the power to enfeeble the courts and another to exercise it deliberately, with no shadow of justification to hide behind. In the past the political leaders have, from time to time, cooperated with the bar association in support of sitting judges of proved ability, and there is therefore no reason to despair in advance. If the politicians place any value at all upon their good name in the community, to say nothing of the general welfare, they will be well advised to accept the Bar association's recommendations.

JUSTIFIABLE CRITICISM

Lieutenant Commander Ellsberg, who acted as salvage officer in the attempt to rescue the crew of the submarine S-4, testifying before the naval court of inquiry, defended the navy's attempted relief work. He described the high seas and the freezing temperatures under which the work was undertaken and told, as only one on the scene could, of the reasons why particular methods were adopted. With his technical knowledge he was able to dispose of many impractical suggestions made by persons unacquainted with submarines and diving work.

Commander Ellsberg's defense of the men who tried to rescue their comrades was not needed. No thoughtful person ever believed that the men of the navy were not doing all in their power and against inconceivable odds. The critic who he belittled the men on the job did not know what he was talking about. It is one thing to sit in an armchair and tell how imprudent men can be got out of a submarine and another thing to go down eighteen fathoms in winter with a storm raging.

It was, on the other hand, justifiable to inquire what preventive measures were in force, whether the regulations of the navy were such as to obviate chance of accident, and whether sufficient devices to insure safety and salvage were provided. Perhaps, as the commander says, the S-4 was protected with safety devices—at least with better ones than submarines of other nations and those compatible with her military purpose. Nevertheless, it was not until after the wreck of the S-4 that the navy department announced it would order submarines to perform diving maneuvers only in prescribed areas, as suggested by The Tribune and others.

Such questions were just ones and they did not reflect on the men of the rescue fleet, for whom every one has nothing but admiration.

Editorial of the Day

"NO PARKING."
 (Grand Rapids (Mich.) Press.)
 Chicago, beginning this week, has ruled all parking out of the downtown area—"the loop." That may be the forerunner of a policy to be adopted within ten years by cities in general.

Parking on busy streets has never had the sanction of logic. Street space is provided by the public in order to move traffic, not store it. Widening streets which could otherwise be "widened" a matter of ten to fifteen feet by the mere expedient of removing the parkers from both sides is an extravagance. The sole excuse for curb parking has been the alleged practical use of encouraging shopping. It is disappearing.

Curb parking cannot possibly accommodate more than an average of two or three cars to the store frontage. Many use this space who are not seeking merchandise. The customer of a particular store seldom is able to park a car anywhere near that store. Rumor garages and private mercantile parking space off the streets are coming into increasing favor, as Grand Rapids has observed in its own typical case. Most cities, our own not excepted, possess a large area of potential parking and storage space on handy back streets only a block or so from the central arteries.

The present condition of parking limited only by time signs has been an encouragement not only to private but to commercial use of the curb. Taxicab and bus companies, instead of obtaining proper space for the storage of their cars between calls, have used the public roadway. The distinction between public and private conveyance in this regard is only beginning to be drawn; in the past an actual disposition has existed to favor the common carrier and keep everybody else out of his curb space.

A fair prophecy is that downtown parking will eventually be eliminated and that motor bus parking or stopping on the highway to take on or discharge passengers will be prohibited, such carriers being required to maintain regular drive-in stations for all stops. There is nothing unfair or illogical about that. The railroad and interurban provide stations; why not their local traffic successors?

How to Keep Well

To the limit of space questions pertaining to hygiene and prevention of disease will be answered in this column. Personal questions will be made to inquire, under proper limitations, when return stamps are enclosed. Dr. Evans will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

TANNIC ACID CURE FOR BURNS

REMEDIES for burns are classed among home remedies, though severe burns should have more experienced treatment. The same is true in all particulars of remedies for old ulcers, such as various ulcers, chronic ulcers on the legs of old people, ulcers full of "proud flesh," and the neglected ulcers found on children.

Besides the family medicine chest such remedies belong to the list of the school nurse—and in the dressing stations of factories and stores.

On two or three occasions we have called attention to tannic acid, a remedy for burns to follow the first treatment, or for the purpose of excluding air from a fresh burn. The tannic acid is applied to the burn in a crust form, at which time the application is stopped.

Dr. W. D. Carrell of the Washburn railroad uses it in much the same way for old ulcers, including various ulcers. He recommends that it be used in railroad shops and similar places. He uses a two and a half per cent solution of tannic acid in water. This is done by spraying on the ulcer with an ordinary nose spray every half hour until a brown scab or crust is formed. Then the spraying is stopped. The ulcer heals under this scab or crust.

Every now and then a mother or a school nurse has to decide whether a scab should be removed from old ulcers and sores. This experience seems to prove that it is better to leave them on. Healing will go on faster under a scab than it will on an open surface.

In Dr. Carrell's experience it has seemed better to partially sterilize the ulcer by keeping a sterilizing dressing on it for a day or two and by painting the nearby skin with an antiseptic before applying the tannic acid solution.

NO DANGER IN WALLPAPER

F. E. N. writes: Happening to read in a detective story a scientific author that glazed papers in a room contained large quantities of arsenic, I am reminded of the death of a school friend from arsenic in his bedroom paper. I had supposed that arsenic papers did not contain any, as there was much agitation about so much arsenic in wallpaper years ago.

Do you think there is danger from glazed papers in kitchen and bathroom? Should one abandon the idea of a shade of glazed chintz (so-called) at the window where water splashes from the tub?

TRENCH MOUTH CAN BE FATAL

A. G. writes: I read in the death notices the other day of a man dying of trench mouth. I am interested in it.

1. Is this possible?
 2. How does it cause death?
 3. What are the symptoms?
 4. What is the treatment of trench mouth?

OLD FOLK'S ITCH

Mrs. M. A. writes: What is a cure for old folk's itch?

Green the skin frequently and thoroughly. People's itch results from the skin being dry and granular.

SONNET

The winds of spring more constant are than I.
 The fleet, sweet winds that stir your golden hair
 An instant in their passing. Nor compare
 The span of my devotion to the cry.
 Of wild birds winging—Ah, my love may die
 Long ere the shrill sounds merge with woodland air.

Yet you will have sweet singing while I care,
 And dreams to ease your heart and heal your sigh.
 This moment, while I love you, think of me
 Wrapt in your passion, and lost utterly.
 Forget my passing footsteps—oh, forget
 Love's own fleet feet. Be still, and sweet
 My kiss is mist on your mouth, and let
 My touch be starlight in your unbound hair.

IN THE SPIRIT OF CHRISTOPHER COLUMBUS

"In the spirit of Christopher Columbus," said President Coolidge in his speech in Havana yesterday. "In the spirit of Christopher Columbus," say you, Cal, but suppose Christopher had stood on the wharf at Palos that gloomy, foggy day, and looking at those dinky little ships had said, "I do not choose to sail!"

Honestly, Riel Edge, Orange Juice Ashamed?

R. H. L.: I'll bet Cal comes home slugging that popular song, "Me and Macchade," Riel Edge.

RHLL: At Fairfield, Iowa, the city electric curling iron council has passed an ordinance whereby any one operating a vacuum cleaner, or other electrical appliance which would interfere with the coming of the radio program between 12 noon and midnight, will be placed under arrest. In Iowa, you see, we take our art very seriously.

A CHICAGO man slammed a barber in the back yesterday because, as he told the police, the barber talked too much. Bet the barber bobbed his head; the women have just ruined them.

WHOA, ERNEST! WHOA, NOW!

Whoa, Teddy! And don't lay your ears back like that, you expurgated no. 30. No, thanks, Pete. No whip. Nothing to infuriate the horse tonight. It's my plan. Apples are going to be my tactics this evening. What about the nightingale? Oh, the nightingale. Well, fix it. We can't do it. Martingale gets fazed. Thanks, Pete. Yeah, turn him loose.

Whoa, Teddy! Whoa! Gosh! Give that horse his head and he tries to go to Omaha. I wish this old right hand of mine was a pole mallet. I'd learn him what whoa means. There is whoa in Israel it's what he'd be thinking.

Somebody said I look like a centaur when I ride. Half man, half horse. Yeah, and I bet I know which half of me the horse also means.

Whoa, Teddy! Gosh, if I could hit 'em as hard as I miss 'em, I'd be Tommy Hitchcock. I wonder why they call that the near side. Like near beer. I guess. The guy that named it was no civil engineer.

Clickety clack, clickety clack, clickety clack... clump... Gee, I don't think that's the way Pete wanted me to dismount. . . . If you've never had a mouthful of tan bark, you haven't missed much. Be careful not to get your feet tangled in the stirrups, Pete said. I never saw feet less tangled in stirrups than mine were just now. And always try to fall clear, he told me. I think I fell better of fooling with an endless lot of gorse.

GETTING ACQUAINTED

YOU DON'T LOOK A THING LIKE YOUR PICTURE!

FROM THE TRIBUNE'S COLUMNS

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

JANUARY 17, 1862.

CAIRO.—You have already been informed that Gen. McClelland, with a part of Sherman's old force, had passed up White river, with the intention of striking across to the Arkansas river. Advice just received are that his passage was undisputed until near Arkansas river, where he was confronted by a new living tongue of flame in Democratic oratory, the speaker being Claude G. Bowers, a New York editorial writer.

He possessed an intelligent torrent of idea and word which swept the madly cheering Jeffersonians up to the rafters. "This may create the impression that Mr. Bowers is a New Yorker," Mr. Bowers was born in Hamilton county, Indiana, forty-nine years ago. A jury of that county sent Stephenson, grand dragon of the penitentiary for life. Mr. Bowers worked on newspapers in Indianapolis, Terre Haute, and Fort Wayne.

He was a candidate for congress in the Terre Haute district in 1894 and 1896. He went to Washington in 1911 as Senator John W. Kern's secretary, and, being absent from the state, has no responsibility for Gov. McCray or Jackson or for the acts of the Rev. E. L. Stephens and Dr. C. Stephenson or their supporters.

Local Hoosiers are proud of Claude G. Bowers, who should be known as "The Strong History of the Wabash." He was recently elected to the senate by Senator John W. Kern's secretary, and, being absent from the state, has no responsibility for Gov. McCray or Jackson or for the acts of the Rev. E. L. Stephens and Dr. C. Stephenson or their supporters.

HARBOR SURVEY MAKES CALUMET HUB OF TRAFFIC

Plans Call for Expansion of Facilities There.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The Great Calumet district of Illinois and Indiana is to play a highly important part of Chicago's water commerce in the harbor plan of the Commercial club.

The focal point, at the start, for the commerce will be at the mouth of the river. That is to be the terminal for passengers, package and express commodities.

For Chicago proper, the terminal for cargo traffic from the south will be on the drainage canal at Cicero and Crawford avenues. There also will be an interchange point between water and rail.

But the big industrial and bulk interchange harbors, between barges and lake boats, between either and both railroads, and between industries, lake boats and barges, will be in the Calumet territory. Because of the radical difference in their nature it is difficult to compare them in size; but in both land and water area, frontage, amount of traffic and in gross revenue for the harbor developments proposed by the Commercial club in the Calumet area are much larger than the other two combined.

In land the lake commercial harbor is estimated to require 333 acres, the Crawford avenue barge terminal 93 acres and the Calumet harbors 2,748 acres. The water area for the lake commercial harbor is 1,717 acres, for Crawford avenue 275 acres and for Calumet the area is so large that no figure is present in the report. In Lake Calumet alone 693 acres are set aside.

Amount of Berthing Space.
The berthing space in feet of the harbor is placed at 34,333, the Crawford avenue at 8,800 and again no estimate is made for Calumet harbors. But its water frontage it is estimated at 129,322 feet will be required. In case of the proposed harbor near the mouth of Calumet river in Lake Michigan, 200 feet of water frontage will supply a mile of berthing space for the building of piers out into the lake.

Basically speaking, the enormous mass of bulk materials will go to the Calumet district under the program outlined out by Maj. Rufus Putnam for the Commercial club.

For the industrial and bulk interchange harbor facilities the Commercial club report has made a comparison between three locations. One is Chicago river and drainage canal, another is the Calumet district and a third is Michigan City. The future requirements of the Chicago river are 120 feet of water front for barges and 100 acres of water front industrial sites for barge requirements also.

Needs of Other Places.
In contrast the future requirements of the Calumet district, which already has large facilities developed, is 120 feet of water front and 80 acres of industrial sites for barge requirements, and 24,430 feet of water frontage for lake ships, and 555 acres of land, in addition for large ships enclosing warehouses are needed. For lake ships Michigan City needs 1,500 feet of water frontage and 25 acres of land.

In water, Chicago today has grain elevators for 25,000,000 bushels of grain, and the Commercial club says that the metropolitan area needs a capacity of 43,750,000 bushels. All of this is to be placed in the Calumet district by the harbor plan. There are now elevators on the Chicago river with a capacity of 7,300,000 bushels. These are to be moved to the Calumet area.

Lumber Stays on River.
A large part of the lumber yards are expected to remain on the Chicago river, but the timber will come in by barge instead of by lake vessels. The steel industry will remain in the Calumet district.

Continuous coal, which now uses 29,000 feet of water front and 266 acres of land, will soon need 3,000 more feet of water front and 160 acres of land. The Commercial club plans to build this bulk commodity half and half between the Calumet district and Michigan City. But all of the anthracite business is to be lodged in the Calumet district. The survey on hard coal has not been completed.

The water commerce in sand, gravel and crushed stone, in addition to its present facilities, will require 7,150 feet of water frontage and 80 acres of land, in the opinion of the Commercial club. Of this the Chicago river is to have 4,000 feet and 35 acres and the Calumet river 3,150 feet and 45 acres.

In addition to all this 18,330 feet and 170 acres are required for sundry other bulk materials. The Chicago river will get 1,500 feet and 15 acres and the Calumet district 16,830 feet of water frontage and 155 acres of land.

It is apparent that in industrial and bulk interchange harbor facilities the Calumet district is to be six times as important as the Chicago river and drainage canal, according to the plan of the Commercial club.

SENATE VOTES FOR DOWNWARD TARIFF REVISION

House Expected to Kill Resolution.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(Special.)—Downward revision of tariff rates on industrial products is demanded in the McMaster resolution adopted today by the senate by a vote of 44 to 24.

Twelve Republicans, chiefly of the radical group, and the Farmer-Labor member joined with 41 Democrats in support of the resolution, while 23 Republicans and 2 Democrats voted in the negative.

Ask Downward Revision.

The resolution as adopted follows: Resolved, that many of the rates in the existing tariff schedules are excessive, that the senate favors immediate revision downward of such excessive rates, establishing a closer parity between agriculture and industry, believing it will result to the general benefit of all.

Resolved, further, that such tariff revision should be considered and enacted during the present session of congress.

Resolved, further, that a copy of this resolution be transmitted to the house of representatives.

Republicans Join Democrats.

The 12 Republicans voting in favor of the resolution were Senators Blaine and La Follette (Wis.), Borah (Idaho), Brookhart (Ia.), Capper (Kan.), Frazier and New (N. D.), Howell and Norris (Neb.), McMaster and Norbeck (S. D.), and Pine (Okla.).

Senators Brewster (La.) and Kennick (Wyo.) were the two Democrats voting against the resolution.

Inasmuch as tariff legislation must originate in the house under the constitution, the sentiment of the senate as expressed today will be of no avail unless members of the house ways and means committee choose to take up the subject. The Republicans in the house have no intention of so doing.

Where the House Stands.

How the house feels about attempts by the senate to initiate anything relating to the tariff was made evident today when a senate resolution incorporating an administrative amendment to the tariff law came to its attention.

Representative Green (Rep., Ia.), chairman of the house ways and means committee, moved that the resolution be returned to the senate on the ground that the senate had violated the provision of the constitution requiring tariff legislation to originate in the house. The motion was carried.

DEMAND TAX ACTION

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(Special.)—Demands for early action on tax reduction were made by Democrats in both houses of congress today. Minority members of the finance committee, at a conference, agreed to take steps to force action by the committee on the tax bill without further delay.

Smoot Calls Session.

Senator Smoot (Dem., N. C.), ranking minority member of the committee, conveyed a request to Chairman Smoot (Rep., Utah) for a meeting to give its members an opportunity to decide on the program. Senator Smoot called the session for tomorrow morning.

The minority members will ask for immediate consideration of the tax bill passed by the house before the holidays. Senator Smoot will urge that the alien property bill also passed by the house before the holidays be taken up first. The Utah senator expects the Republican senators to support him on this program with a view to delaying enactment of tax legislation until after March 15, as desired by the administration.

Garner Attacks Mellon.

Representative Garner (Dem., Tex.), ranking minority member of the house ways and means committee, in the house charged that the real reason why Secretary of the Treasury Mellon is opposed to the tax measure in its present form lies in the section added on the floor of the house at the instance of the Democrats. This section prohibits affiliated corporations from filing consolidated tax returns.

Mr. Garner asserted that the abolition of consolidated tax returns would cost corporations in which Mr. Mellon is personally interested as much as $1,000,000 annually.

REED'S COMMITTEE WILL RECOMMEND SENATE BAR SMITH

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(Special.)—Recommendations of the special campaign funds committee adverse to Frank L. Smith of Illinois will be filed in the senate tomorrow and before the day is over a resolution may be adopted declaring the Smith seat vacant.

Senator James A. Reed (Dem., Mo.), chairman of the committee, gave notice in the senate today that the committee report would go in at the opening of tomorrow's session and that so far as he knew there would be but little debate.

Senator Reed said that Mr. Smith does not desire to take advantage of the opportunity given him to address the senate and that the only speech in Smith's behalf may be one by Senator Deneen (Rep., Ill.).

Senator Reed said that he does not himself expect to take more than 15 or 20 minutes in discussing the case and that other members of the committee have no intention of making speeches.

In presenting the committee report Senator Reed will offer a resolution holding Smith not to be entitled to his seat by reason of the acceptance of campaign contributions from public utility magnates.

SHOWDOWN ON MERCHANT FLEET DUE IN SENATE

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(Special.)—Merchant marine legislation was made the unfinished business of the senate today and the stage was set for a showdown between those who advocate continued government ownership and operation and those who support President Coolidge's view that the government fleet should be sold to private interests.

The senate by a vote of 61 to 29 adopted a motion by Senator Jones (Rep., Wash.), chairman of the senate commerce committee, to take up for consideration his bill as approved by the committee. Under the Jones bill the shipping board is prohibited from selling ships except by unanimous vote of its members. The bill also authorizes the board to provide for the building of such new vessels as are needed to round out the fleet. President Coolidge already is on record in opposition to the Jones bill.

How the House Feels About Attempts by the senate to initiate anything relating to the tariff was made evident today when a senate resolution incorporating an administrative amendment to the tariff law came to its attention.

Representative Green (Rep., Ia.), chairman of the house ways and means committee, moved that the resolution be returned to the senate on the ground that the senate had violated the provision of the constitution requiring tariff legislation to originate in the house. The motion was carried.

MELLON IS MUM; HIS ASSISTANTS OUT FOR HOOVER

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(Special.)—Although members of the treasury staff have commenced active work on behalf of Secretary of Commerce Hoover's presidential boom, Secretary of the Treasury Mellon continued today to be noncommittal on his own preference.

Mr. Mellon denied reports that he had determined to use his influence for Hoover and that the Pennsylvania delegation would be voting to the secretary of commerce probably on the third ballot.

Mellon Favored Hughes.

The secretary of the treasury, who is known to have favored Charles E. Hughes before the latter declared himself out of the running, said that he is holding aloof and sees no reason why he should do anything at present.

That other treasury officials have had no word from Mr. Mellon adverse to the Hoover candidacy is indicated by the fact that Under Secretary of the Treasury Mills and Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lowman took part in a conference of Hoover supporters at New York on Saturday.

Assistant Secretary of the Navy Robinson, who, like Mr. Mills and Mr. Lowman, resides in New York state, came out with a statement today announcing himself for Hoover.

"I make this announcement without any previous consultation with Mr. Hoover, and solely for the reason that I firmly believe his nomination and election will be of benefit to our country," Mr. Robinson said. "I propose to devote what time I have at my disposal, and such political influence as I may possess, to bring about Mr. Hoover's nomination and election."

Predict Hoover's Election.

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(Special.)—A prediction was made in the senate today by Senator Shortridge (Rep., Cal.) that Secretary Hoover would be the next President.

"He will continue the policies of this administration," Senator Shortridge declared under questioning by Democrats.

"How will he stand on prohibition?" inquired Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York.

"How does Gov. Smith stand on that?" Shortridge replied.

"I explained that at some length the other day," the New Yorker replied.

"Secretary Hoover will make himself clear to the American people on every issue," retorted the Californian.

GET A LINE on PALATINE

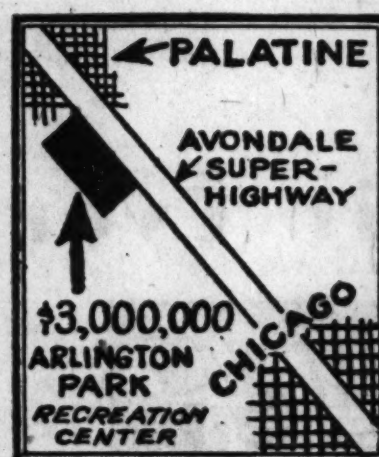

Fast-Growing Suburb on the North Western

A PROFIT SIGN IN PALATINE

CHICAGOANS have no time to think of the past except to profit by its experiences. They are busy today building for tomorrow. Step by step, steadily and surely, Metropolitan Chicago is growing and thriving. Year by year it adds new names to its list of "real estate millionaires." There is no investment on earth so safe, so surely profitable, as the ownership of a piece of land in the path of Chicago's ever-quickenning march of progress. Those who own the foundations of Metropolitan Chicago are Chicago's future millionaires. The door of opportunity is open.

Know the Chicago of Tomorrow

Experienced investors know what features of a real estate offering mean money to them. They recognize advantages in Palatine that point to early profits for those who invest now in this fine suburb. Palatine is but 42 minutes from the Loop by fast, frequent, comfortable C. & N. W. service. Its citizens make good neighbors. They have provided wide paved streets, fine schools, stores and churches. Palatine is famous for its majestic trees and beautiful homes.

Two Great Outstanding Features

The huge Arlington Park Recreation Center and the great Avondale Super Highway—should have a marked effect upon property values in Palatine very shortly. The former, bordering Palatine on the south, has already proved what may be expected in the future, by drawing huge crowds to its first activities. The completion of the Avondale Highway will bring a great flood of motor traffic into Palatine, and connect the town and the Loop with the finest and fastest auto thoroughfare in existence.

Look to the Future—and Profit!

Think of the great expansion program for Chicago in 1928! Think what the 50 million visitors to the World's Fair in 1933 will mean to Metropolitan Chicago in prosperity and increased real estate values! Then "Get a Line on Palatine!" We have one of the greatest real estate money making opportunities, adjoining a $5,000,000 development; improvements are already in; first class transportation; on a paved state highway soon to be widened to 40 feet without expense to the property owners; where big lots, 60x188 feet, 3 times the size of a regular city lot, can be bought on terms of only $200 cash and $15 monthly. Each lot is 1-3 of an acre. It is property that in our opinion should sell for 3 or 4 times the present prices in the near future. We bought this property 3 years ago and are selling it today for less than similar property without improvements can be bought as acreage. Inquire at once regarding this opportunity that awaits you. Thought it came from Shaving

"For many months" writes a man in New York, "I was bothered with an extremely cloudy complexion. I always seemed to have pimples or blackheads. GOLFERS, SPARE THOSE TREES! IS FOREST APPEAL

Protest Against Cleaning Links in Preserve.

Nature lovers clashed with golfers yesterday over the hewing down of trees on the Northwestern golf course in the forest preserve west of Evanston.

Dwight Perkins, an architect who lives in Evanston, known as the "father of the forest preserve" because of his activities years ago in organizing the forest preserve district, is one of the citizens protesting against cutting down the trees.

Finds Woods Ruined.

"Several years ago I found them cutting down trees for a golf fairway," Mr. Perkins said yesterday. "and Chief Forester Ransom E. Kennelott promised that when they had finished it there would never be another tree sacrificed there. Saturday I chanced to hike out there and I found more than a hundred fine maples, oaks, elms, and hickories chopped down."

"It was explained they were widening fairways. Now, we didn't buy those trees so somebody could play golf. If the county wants to build golf courses they shouldn't use land purchased under the forest preserve act, which is intended to perpetuate forest land in its natural state."

Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. Patton of Evanston and members of various outdoor organizations have joined Mr. Perkins in his protest. They propose to create sentiment among citizens and then formulate a protest to the county board. Neither Mr. Perkins nor Mr. Patton plays golf, they admitted.

Forester Defends Action.

Chief Forester Kennelott declared that no one desired more than to keep certain tracts in their natural state. But there are 26,000 acres of preserve, he said, and only 2,000 acres are improved for baseball, golf, riding, picnicking, and other sports.

"Golfers pay taxes as well as nature lovers," he said. "Eighty thousand players enjoyed the game at Northwestern last year, and surely the land is well used."

Chick Evans, the noted golfer, who is golf architect for the county, said the sacrifice of a few trees will bring in wealth of added enjoyment to those who play golf.

Hoffman Tells Benefits.

Peter M. Hoffman, superintendent of construction for the forest preserve, pointed out that while not more than twenty-five trees were destroyed of the thirty thousand all over the Northwestern preserve, the district in the West year has transplanted more than 20,000 trees into the forest preserve. All the smaller trees removed for the golfers were also transplanted elsewhere, he said.

"For the information of those who arrive to crash par at Northwestern, Mr. Hoffman let it be known that a 225 yard poke from the seventeenth tee will not now land in the trees, as it did last year. The second hole, base of the driver because of its narrow fairway, now gives him a chance at staying in the clear. And the two dying trees in the middle of the eighteenth fairway no longer will symmetrize a second shot, he said. They are gone."

SOCIETY WOMAN'S MOTHER HURT IN CRASH AT LONDON

Word was received from London last night of the serious injury in an automobile accident of Mrs. Mary Davis, mother of Mrs. William H. Scriven, 102 East Oak street, socially prominent in Chicago.

Mrs. Davis, whose home is in New York, is in St. George's hospital, London. One of her limbs was injured and she sustained a possible concussion, which was said to be serious because of her age of more than 75 years. Her condition was said to be such that she might not be moved from the hospital to a private nursing home.

With Mrs. Davis is Miss Jane Scriven, her granddaughter. Miss Scriven had just arrived in Paris from the United States when she was summoned to London.

Mrs. Scriven's late husband, William H. Scriven, who was general superintendent of the Pennsylvania lines in the west, was killed on Oct. 3, 1925, when his automobile plunged off the road near Carbondale, Ind., overturning as it rolled down an embankment.

JOHN PLANT LOSES HIS FIGHT TO KEEP FIRE BUREAU SUPREMACY

John Plant, city fire prevention engineer, lost the last round of his fight to retain supremacy in the fire prevention bureau when the city council yesterday passed an ordinance creating the position of chief of the fire prevention bureau.

Fire Commissioner A. W. Goodrich has announced he will appoint Division Marshal John Touhy to the new job.

Passage of the ordinance was preceded by a sharp debate in which a minority of five aldermen reiterated charges made before the schools, fire, and civil service committee that the change is "a raid on civil service" and "a political move." The five were Ald. W. W. Mills (37th), Guy Guernsey (5th), R. A. Woodhull (7th), John Chapman (49th), and Dorney Crowe (42d). Ald. John J. Hoellen (47th) defended the ordinance, arguing that a uniformed man should head the bureau and that, regardless of personalities, it is an administrative function.

HAITI'S REVENUE TAKES BIG JUMP UNDER U. S. BOSS

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti, Jan. 16.—(AP)—The monthly report of Dr. A. C. Millard, recently appointed financial adviser to Haiti, shows that the month of December, 1927, exceeded any former record for monthly revenue receipts. Customs receipts were $1,044,933.12; internal revenue, $119,494.98, and miscellaneous, $14,813.16, totaling the record amount of $1,179,291.26.

This rise in revenue was mainly due to the fact that the coffee season, the greatest Haitian crop, is at its peak in December and January.

The next best month reported since the American occupation was that of the previous December, $1,092,474. The total imports for the last year are valued at $15,751,325 and exports at $15,299,088. The indications for the entire year are reported as excellent.

SALVAGE CHIEF DEFENDS SELF IN S-4 INQUIRY

Boston, Mass., Jan. 16.—(AP)—No where in the world could a more experienced body of salvage experts have been assembled than was brought together for rescue operations on the sunken submarine S-4, Capt. Ernest J. King, directing salvage operations on that vessel, told the naval court of inquiry investigating the S-4 disaster today.

The entire session today was devoted to hearing the testimony of two salvage officers, Capt. King and Lieut. Hartley. Both maintained that everything humanly possible was done to save the lives of six men imprisoned in the torpedo room of the S-4, in view of the stormy weather conditions prevailing immediately following the disaster.

From the time of my arrival on the Falcon," Capt. King said, "everything possible that could occur to any of us was canvassed, and to those of us who were on the spot the successive rescue steps, as we took them, appeared to be the only logical and reasonable steps to take."

KILLED WHILE AT WORK.

Daniel Russell, 25, was killed early yesterday when a beam fell from a Chester building on which he was working at 4701 Grand boulevard, striking him on the head.

These tablets were first placed on sale in drug stores in December 1894, thirty-three years ago, and have steadily increased in popularity ever since as attested by millions of users.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain no soda nor any other harmful ingredient, but the desired alkaline effect is secured by a pleasant combination of Magnesia and Calcium Carbonate with other ingredients for the prompt relief of that acidity, discomfort after eating, nausea, fullness after meals, etc.

However the proof of the pudding is in the eating and if you wish to see what these tablets will do for your particular stomach, try the handy metal box for pure or pocket (enough for a full week's use) for a quarter at your druggist. The large size for 60 cents, and the family size $1.20. A sweet stomach for twenty-five cents!

SEEKS 100,000 TO SIGN TRANSIT SESSION APPEAL

Mayor O. K.'s Idea, Ald. McDonough Says.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.
The council local transportation committee decided yesterday to circulate a petition for 100,000 signatures to request Gov. Small to call a special session of the legislature for the consideration of enabling transportation legislation. The petition reads:

"We, the undersigned, residents of Chicago, earnestly desire the necessary enabling legislation to provide more and better transportation in this city. We believe the need so urgent that we respectfully request you to call a special session of the general assembly for this purpose."

Chairman Offers Plan.
The suggestion came from Chairman Joseph B. McDonough. Ald. Cronson moved the adoption of the idea and it was passed unanimously.

"Mayor Thompson endorses this plan," Ald. McDonough declared. "He said, 'Let the governor know Chicago wants legislation. I'll cooperate to get 100,000 names at least.'"

"I don't think the companies want the traction matter up at a special session," commented Ald. McKinlay. "They will have to come out too far in the open."

"Many residents are clamoring for improvements and extensions," interrupted Chairman McDonough. "The companies tell them to get us to pass the order for the extensions, then they go to the Illinois commerce commission and they tell the people that if we will pass the order, the commission will get the extensions. We passed some orders for extensions a short time ago."

Says They Were Outsted.
Then the people wanting them went to the Illinois commerce commission and they called the police to have the petitioners put out. By circulating a petition we will get some information on what the people want. Then we will find out where the companies stand."

"The petition is a very good idea, but in attempting to get a petition for home rule of 153,000 signatures about a year ago, I put in six strenuous weeks," commented Ald. Arvey. "Let everybody work."

"If the governor calls a special session will we be ready with our bills," asked Ald. Thomas Bowler.

"Nobody knows," Ald. McKinlay retorted.

HOUSE APPROVES BILL FOR CO-ORDINATION OF AIRCRAFT PURCHASES

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(Special.)—Creation of a board consisting of assistant secretaries of the war, navy, commerce, and postoffice departments, with the chiefs of the army and navy air services, to coordinate the aircraft procurement plans of all federal government agencies, was unanimously approved by the house today.

Under the terms of the bill, which now goes to the senate, the proposed board will control the general aircraft procurement policies of all departments to insure a maximum efficiency with a minimum of duplication, but each department head will still retain full responsibility for actual purchases made for his branch.

The measure, sponsored by Representative Vinson (Dem., Ky.), is a modification of recommendations made to the last congress by the Morrow aircraft board and the Lampert investigating committee of the house.

COMMITTEE MAY CALL FOR MAIL PLANE CARRIERS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—(Special.)—Members of the house naval affairs committee are considering the advisability of adding a number of light, fast aircraft carriers, weighing less than 10,000 tons, to the $740,000,000 naval construction program, now before congress, it was disclosed today.

Whether such a step will be taken will depend largely upon whether these ships can be constructed within the limitations of the Washington arms treaty which limits American aircraft carrier tonnage to 185,000 tons. The two big carriers recently added to the United States fleet, together with the five 13,000 ton carriers carried in the present bill, will give the United States its limit in carrier tonnage and the question remains as to whether the building of carriers weighing less than 10,000 tons would violate the treaty.

Admiral Charles F. Hughes, chief of naval operations, told the committee today in his opinion this country can build an unlimited number of the small carriers. He based this on the wording of the treaty which defines a carrier as a ship, used for carrying aircraft, which weighs 10,000 tons or more.

The committee directed Admiral Hughes to ask the state department and the judge advocate general of the navy for opinions. At the state department it was said later that construction of carriers approximating 7,000 tons would probably not be considered in violation of the treaty.

COMPANIONATE MARRIAGE VOW JARRED IN COURT

Judge Frowns on Property Contract of Couple.

Superior Judge Joseph Sabath, in the first ruling in Cook county jurisprudence on a so-called companionate marriage, yesterday indicated he would not recognize a pre-nuptial contract waiving certain marital obligations.

The hearing was on a temporary alimony motion brought by Mrs. Albee Gottwald against Winifred Gottwald, an insurance broker at 503 Winifreda parkway, whom she is suing for separate maintenance. Attorney Francis E. Hinkley, representing the husband, produced an agreement signed by husband and wife two months before their marriage in which they contracted that the wedding would not change their individual property rights.

Has No Legal Standing.
"It looks like something advocated by this Denver judge, Ben Lindsey," commented Judge Sabath. "I think such contracts are against public policy and therefore of no legal standing."

"I don't think society has reached the state where the law will countenance a breaking down of the marriage institution. If the contract was good, the wife might become a public charge."

"I believe a solemn document signed in contemplation of marriage to a binding contract and I'll produce law to substantiate my stand," Attorney Hinkley insisted.

He will be given this opportunity before the court enters its formal decision as to the prenuptial agreement. The hearing was continued to give Attorney J. V. De Laney, counsel for Mrs. Gottwald, opportunity to amend technical errors in her bill.

Mrs. Gottwald, a matronly figure wearing horn rimmed glasses, declared that she did not know the nature of the contract she signed. Her husband, a tall, slim, gray haired, pale faced individual, contradicted her, saying that they entered into the agreement to protect the property interests of the children by former marriages.

Dry's Claims Draw Fire in Senate Debate.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Senator Morris Sheppard (Dem., Tex.), father of the eighteenth amendment, stirred up a hornet's nest in the senate today when, in the course of an address commemorating the eighth anniversary of Volsteadism, he attributed the prevailing national prosperity and a general reduction in drunkenness and crime to prohibition.

Senator Bruce (Dem., Md.), one of the leading wets in the senate, leaped to his feet to rebuke the Texan's claim. "It cannot be due to prohibition because there is no prohibition. Statistics available to the senator show that arrests for drunkenness in 500 cities throughout the country have increased by leaps and bounds."

Scott's at Dry's' Claims. "The answer to all of the senator's statements that industrial prosperity is due to prohibition is simply this," declared Senator Bruce. "It cannot be due to prohibition because there is no prohibition. Statistics available to the senator show that arrests for drunkenness in 500 cities throughout the country have increased by leaps and bounds."

Everybody knows that this extraordinary prosperity is due to economic forces with which all are familiar and that prohibition has had nothing to do with the perfectly natural revival of industry after the war. The most lamentable feature of prohibition is the way it is building up a professional criminal class among our people.

"In great cities like Chicago and New York, there seems to be a class of coldblooded, bloodthirsty criminals," warned Senator Bruce. "The worst drink more than men. Senator Bruce asserted that any ordinary observant person knows that the young people of the country are drinking more than ever before."

"Any man who comes into contact with others socially knows," said Senator Bruce, "that women are drinking to an extent never known before. My observation through the country is that at dinner parties where cocktails are served—and they are served almost universally—the women drink more than the men. I regret to make such a statement, but it is a fact."

DRY LAW IN CHICAGO SERIOUSLY CRIPPLED BY REQUIRED TESTS

Washington, D. C., Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Prohibition enforcement in the Chicago district will be seriously crippled unless a new examination is granted dry agents who flunked the civil service tests, E. C. Yellowley, prohibition administrator, notified national headquarters today.

According to a telegram received by Prohibition Commissioner James M. Doran, fifty-four agents in the Chicago area have already reported the receipt of rejection slips. Many others are still to be heard from, Mr. Yellowley said. He reported also that some of his "best agents" were among the casualties.

As the news from Chicago reached Washington, prohibition authorities, backed by dry congressmen and dry organizations, redoubled their efforts to force the commission not only to make its tests more practical, but to order another examination at once.

Commissioner Doran believes that if the tests are made "more practical" hundreds of the agents who flunked the first tests will pass a second one.

Civil service officials declined to comment today, but there was increasing evidence that the commission eventually would order another examination in the districts where the casualties were so large.

Representative Fish (Rep., N. Y.) charged today that the commission, in its examination for agents, had "violated" not only the spirit but the letter of the law giving preference to veterans. He threatened to go to President Coolidge unless the matter was rectified.

DANDRUFF Soon Destroys the Hair

If you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to brush or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid Arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid Arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you have. This simple remedy never fails.

U. S. OPENS BEER TRIAL OF WINGS AND 14 OTHERS

(Picture on back page.) Albert K. Winge, former police lieutenant, and fourteen other defendants went on trial yesterday before Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson, charged with conspiracy to transport beer valued at $1,000,000 from the Gilt Edge Beverage company in Lawrence, Mass., to Morton Grove. The Boston and Maine, the New York Central and the old Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroads are among the defendants named in the indictment which was returned more than two years ago.

Other defendants are Thomas F. Walsh, president of the brewery; David J. Allen, its manager; and Thomas A. Atwood, John Krappman, and Oscar Gibbler, brewers; William Kelley, traffic manager of the Milwaukee railroad; A. M. Kolb, former Chicago policeman, and his brothers, Matthias and Theodore Kolb, saloonkeepers; Walter Matson, and B. C. Thompson, truck owners.

Assistant District Attorney John Northrup and Leo Klein, announced they expect to call fifty witnesses. The defense is represented by Attorneys Benjamin Epstein, David Stansbury, William Waugh, and Edwin Weil.

Joseph Frendelgauf, former prohibition group chief, was the first witness called. He told of seizing the five carloads of beer at Morton Grove.

DRY CHIEF SEES BALLOT DECISION ON PROHIBITION

New York, Jan. 16.—[Special.]—Dr. Ernest H. Cherrington, director of the department of publicity and education of the Anti-Saloon League of America, today admitted that the question of prohibition probably would have to come before the voters of the United States for final settlement.

"We must get the truth about prohibition before every group of the American people," he told the Union Ministers' association of New York City at a meeting celebrating the eighth anniversary of national prohibition. "We must face the facts, expose the fallacies and follow the truth wherever that may lead us. We must leave no avenue untrodden, no means unused to discover and proclaim the actual facts about prohibition."

"Not the next election but the next generation will determine whether prohibition is to be a passing fad or the permanent policy of the nation."

Yellow Cab

Retires Its Old Cabs

In accordance with its recent promise, publicly expressed, Yellow Cab has retired all of its old cabs in the interests of Better Service and Greater Public Satisfaction.

Hereafter, when you hail a Yellow Cab, or call one by telephone, you will be sure of a strictly modern, standard limousine which, in the opinion of the automotive industry, is the highest type of taxi-cab ever produced.

Some of these models have been in service for some time, but now our entire equipment of 2674 cabs is modern. The new cabs are longer in wheel base than the old ones just retired—they are roomier and easier riding. They are lined with selected velour which enhances passenger comfort and adds the charm of coziness.

The extra seats face forward—the floors are covered with sanitary rubber mats—the glass in the windows directly behind the driver are of the newly invented safety glass which, while it may crack, will not fly about in pieces.

In other words, this Yellow Cab answers the public demand for more room, more luxury and more comfort, and is so far in advance of the old models that comparison is impossible. It is in line with Yellow Cab's promise, made at its beginning, twelve years ago, that when science and progress could show the way to improvement, Yellow Cab would provide it.

And the same promise holds good for the future.

MULLEN REFUSES TO BELIEVE GENE SIGNED WITH TEX

Recalls Tunney's Promise at Christmas Time.

Tex Gets Set

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—(Special.)—Tex Rickard has abandoned his idea of erecting one of those outdoor boxing arenas. Instead, he has practically decided to promote all his open air pugilistic extravaganzas in the wide open spaces of the Yankee stadium for a period of ten years.

Negotiations for a long term lease on the largest baseball plant in the country have been on for the last week. That Rickard expects to have no difficulty in obtaining his ten year lease is evident from the fact that he has already signed Gene Tunney to defend his world heavyweight title against either William Harrison Dempsey or the winner of the current heavyweight elimination tournament on June 7 or June 14, 1928.

Promoter James C. Mullen does not believe that Gene Tunney has contracted with Tex Rickard for two fights to be held this year.

According to the local promoter, both Tunney and Manager Billy Gibson promised they would not sign up for matches until the first of February. The champion, Mr. Mullen asserted, has said he would rather fight in Chicago than any other city providing the inducements were equal.

"I am taking Tunney at his word," Promoter Mullen said yesterday, "I am not convinced that Gene has signed with Rickard for two fights, for I have every reason to believe that Tunney would have consulted with me before he took any such action."

Mullen Promises Announcement.

The local promoter did not appear worried over the report from New York that Gene has signed with Rickard. He intimated he would have an announcement about Feb. 1.

Fighters who will take part in the four fights of Mullen's show at the Coliseum on Friday night started on the final lap of training yesterday. The main event which will bring together Eddie Shea, the west side Italian featherweight, and Ignacio Fernandez, the Filipino, is creating interest.

Promises Slugging Match.

The heavyweight fracas between Otto von Porat, the Norwegian heavyweight, and Al Reid of Detroit is developing into an interesting fight, according to the promoter, who has seen both in action. Von Porat is known to local fight fans, while Reid comes here with quite a reputation as a puncher.

Frankie Schaeffer's friends on the south side will turn out in large numbers to root for him against Spud Myers of Pocatello, Idaho. This should be a slugfest as long as it lasts, as both are stiff punchers and neither will retreat. They can be depended upon to trade punches and let go with everything at all times.

Ramos Goes Wild; Wins 3 Hi Li Games

SEÑOR RAMOS was just about the whole show in the jai alai series decided at the Rialto front last night. Those who encouraged him visited the cashier's cage three times in a row, which is a record here.

He started his winning streak in the fourth game, a double match at 15 points. Paired with Barrutia, he won from Tracet and Marcelino, 15 to 8. It was a walkaway throughout, with Ramos playing brilliantly and Marcelino going in such erratic form that even Tracet could not pull him up with the leaders.

The fifth game was an elimination single engagement, and Ramos, after getting 4 points in a row, was the easy winner with Marcelino second and Tracet third. Those who encouraged Ramos in this game received $7.50 for each two dollars invested.

In the elimination doubles event which came sixth on the program, Ramos and Aramendi staged a rally and won from Uranga and Modesto. The encouragers didn't have much confidence in Ramos even after two previous victories, and he was quoted at $9.50.

Little Jeff Santiago was a double winner in the first two events. Little Jeff played like he has forgotten how to lose. The summaries:

cently reinstated a number of skaters who faltered as to their age last year, intends to hold up the prizes of any skaters of whom there may be any question of doubt as to their age. Otherwise the prizes will be given to the winners immediately after the races.

As previously announced, every skater who goes to the mark in a trial heat will be given a bronze button as a souvenir of the 1928 THUNDER Derbies. None of these buttons, however, will be given to entrants unless they show an inclination to race. These buttons are now ready, as are also the skates which will go to the winners of the first three places in each Derby and the medals which will be given to those who win fourth and fifth places in each event. The team trophy, which will go to the organization which scores the greatest number of points in all races, also is ready.

The complete entry list is now in the hands of Harry Bern, chairman of the registration committee of the Western Skating association. The skaters are being placed in the proper Derbies and the list of nominations will go to the printer tomorrow, so that programs containing the names and numbers of the contestants can be distributed free of charge to spectators on the two racing days.

One copy of the entries will go to Edward Mahlike, president of the Western Skating association, who will be chief clerk of the course. Mahlike will place the entrants in heats before the races.

DROP IN VISIBLE SUPPLY STARTS CORN UPWARD

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Grain markets were easier early yesterday, but corn turned strong after the posting of the visible supply statement showing an unexpected decrease of 185,000 bu., and the finish was about the top, with wheat unchanged. March closed at $1.23 1/2 and May at $1.20 1/2. Corn was up 1/4¢ to $1.01 1/2, with March leading. The latter finished at $1.01 1/2 and May at $1.00 1/2. Oats were 1/4¢ higher and rye 1/2¢ lower.

Outside interest in wheat was limited with sentiment generally bearish, but wheat sellers made little headway in getting prices down, the range for the day being only 1/4¢.

Visible Supply Decreases.

A decrease of 1,917,000 bu. in the domestic visible supply of wheat was somewhat more than the trade anticipated, and the total was brought down to 82,100,000 bu. against 84,017,000 bu. last year. Spot basis here was unchanged at 1 1/2¢ higher. Portuguese government is expected to authorize the importation of 1,500,000 bu. of wheat in the near future. Supplies on ocean passage increased 3,612,000 bu. for the week.

Liverpool Corn Higher.

Northwestern corn receipts were fairly good, while locally only 141 cars were received, with the spot basis 1/4¢ higher to 1/2¢ lower. Visible supply is 58,570,000 bu. against 57,055,000 bu. last year. Liverpool closed 1/4¢ higher, with January quoted at equal to $1.11 per bu., or 2 1/2¢ over the same delivery here.

Commission houses and locals were on the buying side of oats and the market showed a firm undertone. Visible supply decreased 1,092,000 bu. for the week. Rye was dull and somewhat easier, with scattered liquidation in evidence. Export demand was slow.

Lamp-posts and X's

STATISTICS are pliant and resourceful tricksters, full of confusions and illusions, as auditors, tax-collectors and investment bankers increasingly discover.

So figure jugglers are fast losing their fair-haired bovishness.

Experience has found that the "rabbit" wasn't in the hat after all.

Memory harks back to a certain mathematics instructor who used to demonstrate that the lamp-post in front of his class-room couldn't algebraically exist.

But after an unconvinced student knocked his head against the place where the lamp-post was supposed not to be, he forthwith lost confidence in the magic of X's.

THERE are still space buyers able to assure themselves that the American Weekly cannot logically have five million legitimate, full-priced, constant circulation.

They deny the possibility of obtaining such a concentrated, saturating, dominating market influence without recourse to schemes, premiums and bargain combinations.

They invoke comparison, point to the arduous and profligate processes through which publications of half American Weekly magnitude must secure and maintain their volume, and dogmatically reason themselves into the belief that the lamp-post just can't be there.

They argue with charts, graphs and wish-bones. We retort with lamp-posts and bumps.

The American Weekly has five million spontaneous circulation—and more.

It's on the way to six million circulation—and more.

It's never sold under ten cents net per copy—or more.

It exerts twice the selling influence of any other medium—and more.

The American Weekly continues to gain because it has never lost ground. Its average of reader turnover and percentage of reader replacement are least in every field.

The American Weekly is a family habit, passed from father to son and grandchild.

It's a fixed habit—fixed by a definite, consistent policy, which thirty years and five million, five hundred thousand newsstand sales stamp with approval.

If the American Weekly didn't most accurately reflect the reading taste of average men and women, other publications would enjoy greater popularity and effectiveness.

It does, and they don't.

Corroborable fact, not-prejudiced theory settles that point.

We occasionally hear of advertisers so biased against our conception of interesting subject-matter that they even boast of excluding the American Weekly from their homes.

We have also heard of persons who don't approve of Mr. Coolidge's policies. History reminds us that contemporaries dissented from Shakespeare's idea of good drama—and Washington's notion of sound government.

We concede that the American Weekly doesn't appeal to the entire public. But we insist that it suits the largest single body of readers on earth, and that's the vital point in considering the value of the American Weekly as an advertising investment.

Suppose corporations restricted their products to socially acceptable dealers, or finance confined its loans to personal acquaintances and fellow clubmen?

Such speculation is no more fantastic than an assumption that the purchasing capacity of twenty-five million maximum-wage-and-income consumers is not desirable because their literary inclinations don't conform to the arbitrary preferences of a minority.

Five million, five hundred thousand circulation is its own editorial justification.

Five million, five hundred thousand circulation does not debate its publishing formula. And that's that.

The business of business is to sell the most goods at the least cost.

The business of business is to find the most responsible dealers and the most responsive customers.

The business of business is to get a dividend-paying return for every dollar disbursed.

And the concern that does not buy advertising space as impartially as it buys raw materials, equipment and human service, is squandering stockholders' money and out of step with open-minded competition.

THE American Weekly belongs by right of might and production on every appropriation able to afford its immensity.

It deserves the lion's share of that appropriation.

It renders a service that lesser mediums cannot as profitably perform. And it does the job more thoroughly, and economically than any inevitably duplicating combination of media.

Five million, five hundred thousand circulation—all within metropolitan areas—all strategically placed at the centers of prosperity and employment—all confined to intense retail territory. All held at the hubs of distribution, and tucked in the fifteen pockets of Uncle Sam's ready-money belt, dare not be ignored by any conscientious management.

Second Wives Often Fare Better than First Ones, 'Tis Said

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Would you hesitate about marrying a widower who was known to have treated his wife unkindly?
Miss A. has known a widower for several years. She knew his wife, too. They were thoroughly ungenial, although both were admirable enough in their respective ways. The man, she asked Miss A. to marry him. She loves him and his treatment of her now is everything she could ask for, but she has heard that he was not very kind to his first wife, although people said she really was a most difficult person.

You can't always tell how a man will treat one woman by the way he has treated another. The rule should hold, I suppose. But it doesn't always. There are women who know how to handle men and women who do not. There are people toward whom a feeling of antagonism arises in you without any sane explanation for it. And other comes along and claims your affection for no more explicable reason. I have seen men so completely altered for the better as husbands of second wives that I believe that whether a man is a good husband or not depends largely upon the woman he marries.

There is the chance, to be sure, that marriage will not change the leopard's spots, even though it is proverbial that a second wife is better treated than a first. The extent of the unkindness to which the first wife was subjected and how much of it she brought on herself by not being a sympathetic, companionable person would help determine the advisability of marrying the widower.

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Ap't to Be Refused.
"Dear Miss Blake: Is it the girl's place to ask for a boy's fraternity pin, or should he ask her to accept it?"
"Blue Eyes."
When he wishes a girl to wear his pin, he will present it to her, Blue Eyes. For her to ask and be refused would be most embarrassing, don't you think?

Stamp Collector's Request.
"I am collecting stamps, and would like to have some of the air mail ones for my album. If you know of any one who has them to give, would you let me know?"
G. T. A.
With the stamp hobby steadily increasing in popularity one of the many collectors should have some of the air mail variety of stamps to send this boy. This would be a good way to dispose of any duplicates you might have.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.
Skewer Roasting and Technique.
Although in our kitchen we have long used steel skewers in roasting small pieces of meat, we have never analyzed the work far enough to realize each and every advantage in their use. Now, in some special work in home economics in universities and in the laboratories of the United States department of agriculture, this has recently been done, and in one of the January magazines the conclusions of the matter have been written up. By the way, the facts as given make us more interested in the new metal device we have seen advertised for roasting fowl without a string. The sewing and tying up of meats has its advantages, but some of us may lack faith in the sanitary and flavoring qualities of most sorts of binding twine.

In the report of these experiments it grieves me to read such a direction as that to rub into the surface of the raw meat—among other things—salt. Salt loves water and easily weeds itself to any wetness and on the surface of raw cuts of meats will not only draw some of the juices out to itself because of its inherent thirst. The meat will be "tastier" if these stay put. After these juices are well set by heat is the time to add salt, we believe, and we can add a great deal of eminent support for this belief.

But here is the skewer technique. Heat the skewers red hot and plunge them with precision into the meat, searing it (coagulating the albumen or protein), because so hot, as they go. When cold skewers are inserted the juices can run out where the meat is pierced. The several and preferably heavy skewers are put into the meat so that the points touch at the center while the outer ends ray out at equal distances one from the other. This uniformity and weight gives balance to the roasting piece.

In these experiments the oven at the start was 450 degrees for fifteen minutes, then 375 for all the rest of the time because that first heat would soon break down the fat, giving an unwholesome product and disagreeable odor. I prefer to pour exceedingly hot fat over at the start, and have the 375 or 400 oven all the time.

MOTION PICTURES DOWNTOWN

Thunderous applause, pealing laughter, such as even this great theater never heard before, greeted this unparalleled new stage production yesterday.
Think of seeing a show like this for our popular prices.
35c between 10:45 a. m. and 1 p. m.

"All-Star Broadway Revue" CLARK & McCULLOUGH

Funnier than in "The Reminders"
ROY CROPPER
Star of "Student Prince"
SYLVIA & CLEMENCE, Three Kennys, 12 Melody Girls

There's a fury of applause, too, for
JESSE CRAWFORD
world's premier organist in ballad-concert and Paramount's Brilliant Star
ADOLPHE MENJOU
in the romantic tale of Vienna backstage
"SERENADE"

It's a thrill just to see such enthusiasm as Chicago is showing for this comedy-melody program.
